STANDARD IS SEEKING OIL OF CZECH AS PART OF PLAN

America's Supply To Be Eked Out By That Of Foreign Field

AFTER NEW AREA

Looks For Support From Administration In This Enterprise

BY NORMAN BAXTER
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

London, Nov. 14.—Standard Oil's entry into Czechoslovakia is only a beginning of the company's campaign to establish itself more firmly in the European field. Mr. A. C. Bedfore, Chairman of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is now in London making arrangements to carry through the campaign in question.

According to indications Czechoslovakia is soon to become the scene of a tremendous economic struggle of the oil producers of the world. The Standard Oil Company is said to be planning to fight to obtain control of the European fields as a source of supply for European consumption and this course is being advocated in the belief that the time is not far distant when American oil fields will become exhausted.

The chief competitors of the Standard Oil Company in its new project are the Shell Royal Dutch Company and the Anglo-Persian Oil companies. It is the belief of the Standard Oil Company that in the present enterprise it will have stronger support from the Harding administration that it had when President Wilson was executive at Washington.

STEPHEN URGES LOOK AHEAD 50 YEARS, NOT TEN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 15.—Mr. A. G. Stephen, Chief Manager of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation sailed for Shanghai today on board the Siberian Maru.

Before sailing Mr. A. G. Stephen speaking in the Legislative Council said that he regarded Hongkong as the most important port, politically and otherwise, of the British Empire. "It is the foundation of our foothold and of our influence in the Northern Pacific," he said.

Hongkong's progress must continue at a much greater rate in the future than it had done in the past. He suggested the engagement of a town-planning expert to draw up a scheme to provide for the expansion of the Colony in the next 50 years. Mr. Stephen alluded to the lack of foresight of past generations.

Shanghai was in the same position and enormously expensive resumptions of land had had to be made there to provide for increases in traffic.

Trams Form New Hunting Ground Of Hongkong Bandits

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 15.—A daring hold-up was perpetrated at West Point last night when a gang of armed men boarded a tram-car and compelled the motor-man to stop the tram.

They then conducted a search of the passengers and escaped with a large sum of money. The police are investigating but no arrests have yet been made.

VANDERLIP IN LONDON

BY NORMAN BAXTER
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—(Special To The China Press)

London, Nov. 14.—Mr. Frank Vanderlip is now in London conferring with British financiers concerning his proposed "Bank of the United States of Europe." The success of the project hinges on the attitude of British bankers, as without their support it is believed the plan is doomed. British financiers have remained silent concerning the project.

British Or Italian Prince Now Urged As Substitute For Fallen Hapsburg Rule

Plot And Counterplot Of Monarchistic Nature Stir The Troubled Waters Of Austria Now Horthy Has Refused Regency

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

BUDAPEST, Nov. 14.—Now that the final chances of having a Hapsburg resume the throne have been dissipated the air is thick with new Royalist plots and among other rumors proposals of a restoration of a monarchy under either an Italian or an English prince are heard.

All manner of new combinations are talked of including a proposed union of Austria-Hungary and Bavaria under Prince Rupprecht or a union with Rumania under King Ferdinand. General Horthy, it is said, has no ambition to be a successor to the throne. He already has resigned the post of regent, though the government is seeking to have him reconsider his decision in this matter.

PENALTY FOR PROPAGANDA
(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 14.—According to the Budapest Hirlap, the Premier, Count Bethlen, has made the following statement on the internal and foreign policy of Hungary:

"As soon as the National Assembly is convoked, the Government will completely settle the question of the King by laying down a plan for penalties for propaganda in favor of the Hapsburgs."

Referring to the Venice Agreement, the Premier said that the Government had fulfilled its obligations. The insurgents had evacuated the disputed territory and the plebiscite was now being awaited after the demobilisation of Hungary's neighbors.

It was hoped that normal relations with these countries would soon be re-established and it was also hoped that the atmosphere between Hungary and Italy, which had already improved, would improve still further thanks to economic agreements.

Animated Displays Will Make Auto Exhibition Hum

The Shanghai automobile show will be remarkable for the number of moving mechanical displays that will be shown, as well as for the beauty and variety of motor car and accessory exhibits. In some of the booths large staffs of men are now busy night and day installing concrete foundations on which heavy machines are to be placed, and these will be seen in actual operations during the show. Large numbers of electric motors have already been unloaded at the show grounds in Verdun gardens for use in driving the mechanical displays when the exhibition opens on Nov. 26.

Some of the exhibitors are showing great ingenuity in the arrangement of their booths, and some of the decorative railings that are being put up will equal or surpass those of the "homeside" shows. A small army of carpenters is busily engaged in placing these railings and building platforms for the dozens of exhibits that are to be installed for the show.

The chairman of the committees having the details of preparing the show in charge, including Mr. White of the building committee, Mr. Honigsberg of the House Committee, Mr. Friedman of the entertainment committee, Mr. Hashagen of the advertising committee, and Manager West, are on the job sixteen hours every day this week, attending to the hundreds of big and little problems that press for attention. Mr. West established an office in the main show building yesterday, and will be at the grounds every morning to help exhibitors with their displays and to explain the house regulations to those who are in doubt as to the arrangement of their booths.

Messrs. Ladow and Ellis, of the Carlton management, visited the grounds again yesterday, and while there they announced that the Carlton is making special preparations for the "dinner de luxe" that is to be served in the dancing pavilion on the opening night of the show. Mr. Ellis said that several hundred reservations for this dinner had already been made, and that those who wished to participate in the festivities of opening night had better not delay too long in making their reservations.

There will be table room for between two and three thousand persons in the dancing pavilion, and with the big hall filled, as present signs indicate, the opening night dinner will be the largest ever served in Shanghai. Frank Barron's popular jazz orchestra will be on the job, both for the dinner and the dancing afterward.

BIT OF A BREEZE IN LABOR PARLEY OVER NEW PLANS

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Nov. 14.—There was a little breeze in the International Labor Conference in the course of the discussion on the report of the committee on weekly rest in industrial undertakings in consequence of Signor Baldesi, the Italian workers' delegate, contending that the whole of the non-European countries at the Conference had formed a block for the purpose of opposing measures of social progress already largely adopted in European countries.

He added that, when the reform of the governing body of the Labor Office was discussed, those same non-European countries had insisted on their rights to a full share of the management of it.

The South African employers' delegate, Mr. Gemmill, controverting Signor Baldesi, declared that the non-European countries desired practical results from the Labor Office and would do all they could to achieve that end. They would, however, prevent wildcat schemes going through which could not be accepted in many countries, and which, by their not being accepted, simply brought discredit on the whole Labor organisation.

EXCHANGES MAY HAVE HARD ROAD IN HONGKONG

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 15.—The unofficial members of the Legislative Council are strongly urging on the Government the imperative necessity of discouraging the formation of produce exchanges in the Colony; as such exchanges come into existence for the mere purpose of gambling, are not intended to meet the legitimate requirements of trade, and have been very strongly condemned by the recent meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in Shanghai.

The Governor, replying, said that he thought that it was impossible to exaggerate the evil likely to result from the reckless establishment of such exchanges. It would be the duty of the Government to look very closely into the operations of any exchange which has either started or is proposed to be started, not for trade purposes but simply to encourage reckless gambling such as was seen in Shanghai.

He would have no hesitation in asking the Council for the necessary power to shut them down, without regard to the loss of capital the promoters might sustain.

MEASURE OF SLUMP

London, Nov. 14.—Reflection of the trade slump is found in the Board of Trade annual report, showing that there were 3,158 liquidations in England last year, 119 of which were compulsory.

Evacuation Of Nicomedia (Ismid) By The Greek Residents When Kemal Besieged City

WAR is still raging in Asia Minor between the Greeks and Turks under Kemal. The above illustration shows Greek soldiers resting along the river bank at Ghialavan. Fearing the wrath of the Turks, the Greek population of Nicomedia has evacuated the city. The photograph below shows Greek ships lying in the harbor, while the Greeks are seeking refuge aboard. Nicomedia is the ancient name given to the city of Ismid, at the head of the Gulf of Ismid. It is the capital of Bithynia and about fifty-six miles from Constantinople.

CHINESE BANKS MAY PAY LOANS OF CHICAGO BANK

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, November 15.—The Foreign Office has issued an official statement that it is negotiating with a probably favorable outcome with the Chinese bankers group for a loan to repay both the principal and interest of the two American loans obtained through the Continental and Commercial Bank of Chicago whose representative, Mr. John J. Abbott, has been pressing the Government for payment.

These two loans amount to $11,000,000 and it is now understood that the Chinese bankers group has agreed to underwrite the new loans providing the Government will maintain the wine and tobacco revenues free from any obligations.

Peking, Nov. 15.—The Waichiaopu announces that negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily between the Chinese Government and the Chinese banks for a loan with which to pay off the Commercial Pacific Development Company's and the Continent Commercial Bank of Chicago's loans, principal and interest, which amounts to Gold $11,600,000.

Indemnity May Put Bank Back On Feet

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The Parliamentary Financial and Foreign Affairs Committees yesterday held a joint sitting to hear the Finance Minister, M. Doumer, speak on the matter of the refloating of the Banque Industrielle de Chine.

Among the plans under consideration is one consisting of the appropriation for that purpose of a large amount which is still due to France by the Chinese Government on account of the Boxer Indemnity.

The whole matter was reserved until the return of M. Briand from the United States.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The well-known French electrical engineer, M. Girardeau, who is now engaged on wireless telephony experiments in mid-ocean on board the liner Paris, has telephoned to the French Under-Secretary of Posts from a distance of over 540 miles a clear congratulatory message, this being the first wireless telephonic message ever sent such a distance.

Yes! They See China, As Whangpoo Fish Sees Sky

By Elsie McCormick

IN Egypt most of the wanderers travel by caravan, in India they journey by elephant, in Alaska they go by dog-sled, but in China they travel by deputation. About half the foreign populace seems to be made up of commissions which came out from home to make an exhaustive study of the government, uplift agencies, and customs, map out all possible improvements, see the Ming Tombs, the Temple of Heaven, and the Summer Palace, pick up some bargains in lacquer, furs, and embroidery, and be home again within twelve weeks of the original sailing-date, in time to book up on the next circuit of the Chatauqua.

Some of the commissions, such as the group of educators who arrived here recently, settle down to several months of serious work, and thereby get at least a conception of China's ills even if they are modest enough not to try to concoct a universal poultice for a cure. But the average group, skating through on a ball-bearing schedule, usually succeeds in picking up a mass of misinformation that would keep the Evening Star's "Young Lady Across the Way" supplied until her bobbed hair grew back to normal.

OF THE EARTH, MUDDY

By the time they reach home, the only subjects that they can discuss with any degree of accuracy concern the length of the sleepingcar berths, the "fried tornadoes" and similar dishes listed on the dining-car menus, and the variations in macaroons served at tea-parties from Peking to Canton.

Deputations, like chewing-gum, seem to be a peculiarly American weakness. Perhaps it is an expression of the so-called "Messiah Complex" from which the United States has suffered more or less during recent years, or maybe it a sublimated phase of the Cook's Tour habit which has long caused Americans to see Europe bunched together like asparagus. Quite possibly however, it is only a manifestation of the herd instinct—an instinct that is especially noticeable when those herded together are about to invade a new territory.

MAYBE HE'S AFRAID

In any case, it seems to be true that no freeborn American will take a leisurely trip through China as a master of his own actions, if he can possibly hang on to the outer edges of a commercial, political, or Sunday-school party, and be whisked by the points of interest in a motor-car with streamers on it and three people sitting in his lap. A journey in which he prepares the itinerary to suit his own taste never appeals to him as much as a forced march made with a colored button on his chest through a whirling blur of tea-parties, official receptions, and indigestible dinners accompanied by speeches filtered through an interpreter.

Of course, there are exceptions to every rule and some of the smaller commissions get

FEDERAL COURT TO GIVE RULING IN FLEMING CASE

A decision in the celebrated contempt of court case in which Mr. W. S. Fleming some months ago was sentenced to serve six months in prison may be looked for in the course of the month. The full transcript of the case, a printed record setting forth all the events of the hearing before Judge C. S. Lobingier at which the prison sentence was imposed, has been received in the office of the United States District Attorney and this indicates that the case is being taken up in the higher court, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in California.

The contempt proceedings developed when Mr. Fleming was called for trial on charges of criminal libel that had been preferred by Mr. Stirling Fessenden of the firm of Fessenden and Holcomb. When this hearing opened before Judge Lobingier Mr. Fleming under permission of the Court read a long affidavit assailing the intregrity of the court, charging various officers of the court with conspiracy and making charges against a number of other individuals. Judge Lobingier held that by presenting this affidavit Mr. Fleming brought himself into contempt of court and he imposed the penalty of six months in prison. Mr. Fleming was held in the American prison here for about two weeks at the end of which he was released on bail of Gold $2,000 pending decision of an appeal that he took on a writ of error from the United States Court for China to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in California.

Following this event in the United States Court for China reports from Washington state that charges that Mr. Fleming made last summer against Judge C. S. Lobingier are being heard in Washington by officials of the Department of State. Judge Lobingier left for Washington about three months ago and Mr. Fleming followed a week later.

It is held here that by removing himself from the jurisdiction of the United States Court for China Mr. Fleming has taken the risk of having his bond forfeited.

SLAYERS OF TWO DETECTIVES PAY DEATH PENALTY

Seven armed robbers of the gang which killed two Chinese Municipal detectives and wounded Sub-Inspector J. W. Prince and another Chinese policeman during a raid at 49 Pakhoi Road on the 28th of last April paid the penalty Monday afternoon when they were shot at the Arsenal.

The Pakhoi Road affray, while it broke up one of the most desperate gangs of bandits in the Settlement, the "Shaoshing Band" cost the detective branch of the Municipal force the life of one of its ablest Chinese operatives, Yi Teu-eu, who for eight years had served in the Criminal Intelligence department and who had a remarkable record, particularly as regards the apprehension of armed robbers. The other victim, Yang Zeu-ling, was a recruit in this particular branch of the service but was regarded by his superiors as a man of singular promise.

The two detectives were mortally wounded when they broke into a room occupied by members of the robber gang in the Pakhoi Road lodging house. One bandit was slain at the time and four were captured. Three others were arrested subsequently by the detective branch, chiefly through the efforts of Sub-Inspector Prince and Detective Inspector J. Cruickshank. The men were tried in the Mixed Court and convicted.

Deportations Not Aimed At Chinese But Red Agitators

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 15.—Replying to criticism of the recent amendment to the Deportation Ordinance, the Governor, Sir R. E. Stubbs, said that it was not intended really to deal primarily with Chinese.

The world was in a disturbed state at the moment and it was absolutely necessary that we should have power to get rid of the presence in the colony of Bolsheviks and revolutionaries of various kinds, whatever their nationality might be.

WORLD'S DIPLOMATS AGHAST AT DRASTIC CUT IN ARMAMENTS

British "Agree In Principle" But Would Make Process More Gradual Than Original Plan Of Secretary Hughes—Japan Also Has Some Reservations To Bring Into Conference Later

FRANCE TO DROP SAFETY DEMAND

May Meet Disarmament Program Without Thought As To Her Safety In Europe—Premier Takahashi Says Nippon Welcomes Freedom From Burden

France Ready To Fall In Line

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

LONDON, November 14.—Cables from Paris indicate that France is withdrawing its demand upon the Washington Conference that its safety in Europe be assured in an agreement that may be reached. It is thought therefore that France will agree to limitation of armaments and will not insist upon a British, French and American alliance along the lines of the Versailles proposal.

BY FREDERICK W. WILE
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Nov. 14.—Diplomats are still all aghast at the bombshell manner in which Secretary of State Hughes has thrown America's hand on the table in the Disarmament Conference. Not only are her cards there, but he has gone further and told Britain and Japan just what kind of cards they also are expected to lay down. It is open diplomacy without precedent in international annals and in Yankee phraseology, Secretary Hughes has told both Britain and Japan "fish or cut bait."

Both British and Japanese delegations were positively stunned when the full import of the Secretary's speech dawned upon them. Neither had any advance knowledge whatever of the knockout proportions of Hughes' proposal. His pronouncement has equally astonished the American people. Even the most optimistic had not dared to hope that the American program would go to such a length.

Another note in the address that was hardly less remarkable than the demand for such sweeping limitation of armaments, was the emphasis which Secretary Hughes put upon the necessity for doing something now. He struck the keynote when he said that the world burdened with armament expenditures does not want resolutions, but immediate action.

TAKES FORTY MINUTES

As for the speech itself, it took Secretary Hughes less than forty minutes to outline America's astounding proposal for arresting the construction of capital ships and limiting the navies of Britain, Japan and the United States to the lowest minimum compatible with national defense.

Even today, the full effect of these proposals, radical beyond all expectation, has not yet been realised and while Amiral Baron Kato describes them as extraordinarily drastic, he admits that they form a basis for discussion.

Perhaps the item that has convinced the world of America's determined sincerity is her readiness to scrap the fifteen capital ships now under construction on which $330,000,000 already has been spent.

This and the proposal that the powers agree to cast aside forthwith the 66 ships, roundly 1,900,000 tons, while it almost took the breath out of the bodies of the delegates, actually leaving them speechless, rolled dispassionately from the lips of Secretary Hughes. No oratory was needed to get the message over, as its frankness, audacity and sweeping comprehensiveness could not help but carry conviction.

BRITAIN HAS PLAN
(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 14.—It is understood that instead of ten years' entire cessation of building, Mr. Balfour will propose limited replacement year by year with reduction of shipbuilding plant. Otherwise it would be necessary to spend large sums for the maintenance of idle plant in readiness to build at the end of ten years.

Britain also considers the tonnage fixed for submarines as too high. It is believed that she will propose either the abolition of submarines or limitation of size and armaments.

Washington, Nov. 14.—A conference of the chairmen of the five Great Powers today decided that the question of limitation of armaments shall be considered by a commission, composed of all the principal delegates, instead of the heads of the delegations only. A similar course will be adopted regarding the commission on Far Eastern questions in which the nine nations are concerned.

AID SECRET SESSIONS

Washington, Nov. 15.—The general effect of transferring the consideration of important questions to special commissions is to enable a roundtable discussion of them behind closed doors instead of openly.

M. Briand and Signor Schanzer have agreed that France and Italy shall act together in all Conference questions.

(Reuter's Service)

BRITAIN WILL ACCEPT

Washington, Nov. 14.—It officially stated that at tomorrow's sitting of the Conference Mr. Arthur Balfour will accept in principle America's disarmament proposals.

The heads of the delegations today discussed the question of publicity. The United States favors open meetings with frequent executive sessions for private discussions, the results of which would be presented at the open meetings.

It is understood that Britain's acceptance of the disarmament proposals is based on "certain definite modifications."

Secretary of the Navy Denby announced that American naval construction would not be stopped except by Congress or a definite international agreement.

GENERAL CORDIALITY

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 14.—Seldom has an international conference assembled in an atmosphere of greater cordiality than that which is manifested at the Pacific Conference here.

From the moment that Secretary of State Hughes called the meeting to order, deference was noted everywhere. The astonishment following the American proposals failed to change the evidences of courtesies or to develop any manifestation of doubt but that the negotiations would be successful.

Balfour was the first to strike the general note of harmony when he proposed in an extraordinary tribute to Secretary Hughes that the latter should be chosen as chairman by general consent without a vote. Prolonged applause followed this speech. Secretary Hughes helped the spirit of good feeling by calling the delegates one after another until every head of a delegation had spoken.

WITH ALL HER HEART

Briand, the first speaker, declared that "France enters the Conference with all her heart." Prince Tokugawa spoke a few sentences in English reiterating Japan's whole-hearted participation. Members of Congress took leading parts in the spontaneous demonstrations.

General enthusiasm is predominating in the comments over the proposals in both parties in Congress. Senator Page, chairman of the Navy committee, said that the program was a wonderful ideal, destined to success. He feels that it is liberal but feasible.

Senator Hitchcock, the leading democrat on the foreign relations committee, said. "The boldness and candor of the Hughes' proposal captured everything. The program is enormous and I believe it will be a success.

Senator Poindexter, who had charge of the Naval bill in the Senate, said: "The general plan as I view it is that it puts us on an equal footing with Great Britain and gives Japan somewhat of a higher relative position."

SPLENDID, SAYS BORAH

(Special To The China Press)

New York, Nov. 14.—Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho, "father" of the Conference idea, declared today that the program proposed by America for Naval limitations was splendid as a beginning. "It will require open diplomacy," however, he said.

HARDING IS HOST

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 14.—The delegates to the Conference on Limitation of Armaments were the guests of President Harding at dinner at the White House. Later, a reception was held for the advisory attaches to the delegations.

LONDON IMPRESSED

(Reuter's Service)

London Nov. 14.—Although the Premier has not yet officially received Mr. Hughes's proposals, Reuter's Agency learns that official circles are profoundly impressed by the opening of the Conference, which is regarded as demonstrating completely the sincerity of the United States.

AUSTRALIA PLEASED

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Nov. 14.—The Commonwealth Prime Minister, Mr. Hughes, declared that the United States was to be congratulated on a practical disarmament scheme.

MASSEY SATISFIED

(Reuter's Service)

Wellington, N.Z., Nov. 14.—The Premier, Mr. Massey, expressed satisfaction at Saturday's sitting of the Conference and reiterated that lengthened peace can only be secured through a friendly agreement between Britain America and Japan.

TOKIO'S VIEWS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 14.—A canvass among representative well-informed circles in Tokio, covering all shades of opinion, demonstrates that Mr. Hughes's proposals have created a profound impression, firstly, of surprise at their drastic nature, secondly, of admiration for his courageous example, thirdly, of satisfaction because the proposals are believed to augur realisation of the hopes of the vast majority of the people of Japan for relief from the burden of taxation.

The expressions of opinion show relief that the bogey of the American biggest navy, a menace which has been effectively used by jingoists in Japan, is silenced by this evidence of America's desire to limit her navy to a national defence basis.

An anonymous writer in the Nichi-Nichi this morning quotes an anonymous "naval authority" as pronouncing decidedly against the proposal which, he says, is unfair to Japan but this does not appear to be supported by the best public opinion.

The evening papers in their editorial articles, show a very pronounced favorable impression.

The Asahi, an independent and very influential paper says: "Mr. Hughes's proposals are not far removed from a possible ground for common understanding."

The Jiji, which is considered the foremost exponent of Navy opinion, quotes Foreign Office authorities as saying: "The proposal falls quite near the mark indicated by the Imperial Government to the delegates. Altogether the Washington Conference promises to be far more successful that was at first imagined because of the wise and judicious step taken by the American authorities at the outset."

The Yamato, which is generally critical, says: "There is no reason why Japan or any other Power should hesitate in supporting Mr. Hughes' suggestion."

JAPAN IS CONCILIATORY

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 14.—All the newspapers here of today's issue attach much importance to the proposition and various reports regarding the restriction of naval armaments presented by the United States at the outset of the Washington Conference but do not make any comment upon it as yet.

Inasmuch as no official telegram has yet been received, Government circles are refraining from setting forth their views, but judging from general opinion, they seem to be of a mind that while the United States' proposition is quite intrepid but most candid, it is also thoroughgoing, by which the United States indicates her real intention to bring the Conference to a successful termination for the sake of world peace.

In this connection, the question as to what attitude Japan will take towards the proposition in question is regarded here as one to which the world pays its keenest attention. However, the probability is that an amicable settlement will be reached after counter-proposals have been submitted by Great Britain and Japan subject to the exchange of views without reserve on the part of the three Powers, the United States, Japan, and Great Britain.

According to a special telegram from Washington to the Asahi dated November 12, the Japanese delegates assembled at their headquarters after the first sitting of the Conference was over and decided upon Japan's attitude, regarding which Prince Tokugawa stated that though he was not yet in a position to divulge the matter, one may be certain that it will soon be announced and will be of a conciliatory nature.

Admiral Baron Kato, the Washington telegram says, has also announced to Japanese press representatives to the effect that the Japanese delegates recognise the United States' proposition as a remarkably wise decision and will endeavor to do their very best to accomplish the object of the proposition in question. In this connection, Mr. Yukio Ozaki expresses his opinion as follows:

"In view of the fact that the age of big warships is limited to eight years, the suspension of naval construction for ten years means the total abolition of naval force in the first line of battle, which is more thorough-going than the Bollar Bill. I agree on this proposition without any hesitation."

LONDON FAVORS PLAN

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 14.—Reuter's Agency learns that Japanese circles in London regard Mr. Hughes's proposals very favorably and believe that, subject to technical elaboration, they should prove entirely acceptable. It is declared that Japan will certainly follow the line taken by Britain.

At the Union Church yesterday afternoon there was held a special prayer for the success of the Disarmament Conference, and the service was attended by members of the different foreign congregations of the Settlement. Dean F. J. Symons of Holy Trinity Church presided, assisted by the Rev. A. N. Rowland, Pastor of the Union Church, and Rev. Luther Freeman, pastor of the Community Church. Dr. Freeman, delivered the chief address of the evening.

BASIS OF DISCUSSION

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 15.—Well-informed circles in Washington consider that the agreement between France and Italy should contribute towards the realisation of the aims of the Conference.

Advices from Washington state that the British and Japanese Delegations accepted Secretary of States Hughes' plan "as the basis of discussion" at a secret committee meeting yesterday. This decision was reached after a private conference between them on the previous afternoon.

It is now understood that Japan will not present the plan prepared by Tokio. Great Britain may present Admiral Earl Beatty's plan for comparison at the committee meetings.

No secret is made of the fact in British and Japanese circles that the limitation of armaments is of lesser issue than the Far Eastern question. It is surmised that one stumbling-block in the earlier stages will be the treatment of Japan's suggestion that neither she, Britain nor the United States should create a naval base in the Pacific during a 10-year holiday.

This would mean the American abandonment of the fortification of the Dutch Harbor base at the tip of the Aleutian Islands.

"CURSE OF OUR TIME"

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 15.—The Prime Minister, Viscount Takahashi, in the course of a special interview with Reuter's representative today, said:

"The burden of armaments and the waste of energy for destructive purposes are the curse of our time. Japan's finance fears the burden of armaments as keenly as the other powers. Nothing would be more welcome than relief from this burden, effected by mutual understanding among the nations and based on equality and fairness. The outlay for national defense should be reduced to the minimum for national security.

"The principle of the economic interdependence of nations is, I believe, now universally recognised by all the civilised nations as the basis of their policies, having in view a lasting world peace. In this respect, Japan is no exception.

"The Washington Conference, I am confident, will be epoch making in the realisation of peace and goodwill by diminishing, if not removing, all causes of distrust and suspicion. If this is effected, President Harding will be entitled to the gratitude of the world for the coming generations."

FEAR UNEMPLOYMENT NEAR

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kobe, Nov. 15.—Large numbers of workmen at the Kawasaki Dockyard are idle today in anticipation of being thrown out of work owing to Secretary of State Hughes's disarmament proposal, which, it is estimated, will throw out of employment at least one hundred thousand workers in Japan.

ALLIANCE IS FINISHED?

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The special correspondent of the Echo de Paris at Washington believes that the denunciation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is already considered at Washington as a fait accompli.

Britain has accepted the principle of Mr. Hughes's plan but will demand certain modifications of detail having regard to the length of her lines of maritime communication. She will ask explanations on the distinction established between cruisers and light cruisers.

According to the special correspondent of the Petit Parisien Japan will accede to the Hughes proposal if America renounces fortifications in the Pacific, and with a second condition that America shall lend herself to arrangements in Manchuria and Mongolia and will not demand the immediate evacuation of certain Russian territory, such as the north of Saghalien.

PROFOUNDLY STIRRED

The Temps learns that American opinion has been profoundly stirred by the clear and frank declarations of Mr. Hughes, and the letter from Senator Miles Poindexter, a Republican member of the Commission for Naval Affairs, to Senator William King, Democratic member of the same committee. Opinion in the United States is unanimous.

The French newspapers quote the declarations of the Japanese Admiral, Baron Kato, and of Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Ambassador in London, who said on Saturday: "I consider that the program ought to be accepted by all the Great Powers. It is quite possible theoretically and I do not see why it should not be practically."

Mr. Balfour, on coming from the Conference on Saturday, told Lord Riddell that he felt ten years younger.

Lord Riddell telegraphed to Mr. Lord George: "Magnificent opening session. All world hopes fruitful results."

The Times expresses the resolution of Great Britain to make the necessary sacrifices to reach the end.

The Morning Post formulates friendly and moderate criticisms of the American policy.

FAVOR HUGHES' PLAN

The Westminster Gazette declares that there is no reason for Great Britain not to accept the plan without reserve, at least as far as concerns the period of ten years and that Mr. Hughes's plan has in fact given her more than she asked.

The Daily News writes: "Britons of all parties and all classes hope that at the resumption of the Conference on Tuesday the British delegates will announce their acceptance without reserve of the plan, not only in principle but in all its details and all its consequences."

Admiral Sir Percy Scott, consulted on Mr. Hughes's plan, said simply:". In view of the new conditions of naval and air warfare, to construct cruisers is a fool's plan."

The French Press receives the proposal with great sympathy, but recalls that the question does not directly affect France.

The Temps considers that the American proposal should rally British opinion.

How can the American proposal which is without advantage for America be received in any way but favorably? asks the Intransigent.

The French naval experts have drawn up a report on the Hughes proposal. Great activity reigned among the British, Japanese and Italian experts.

The plenary sitting on Tuesday morning will probably be devoted to the hearing of the report on the procedure to be followed in the discussion of the questions of disarmament and of the Pacific, drawn up by the two committees.

TOKIO PRESS COMMENT

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 15.—The United States' naval proposals are the most important topic of the newspapers of today's issue here and there are not a few of them which comment upon the proposals. The consensus is that the way in which the United States has presented her naval proposals first and foremost is most consistent with the purport of her advocacy for the holding of the Washington Conference.

The fact that the proposals are concrete form is an indication to the world on the part of the United States of her determination and sincerity to take this opportunity to achieve the great work of effecting an agreement on the proposed naval restriction. All see a gleam of hope for the actual and concrete completion of a convention regarding naval reduction. Besides the general views as above mentioned, the Jiji Shimpo writes:

"Though it is probable that from the view-point of their respective self-defence, the Powers may each produce its counter-proposals, we must endeavor to support the United States' proposals in earnest, considering them as the basis on which to make arrangements between Great Britain, Japan, and the United States. We should likewise make up our minds to accelerate the progress of the proceedings promptly and amicably with an attitude of wishing to go a step further and not by any means to desire naval reduction in any less degree than Mr. Hughes' proposals. We harbor not the least doubt as to the prospect of a satisfactory decision."

Britain And Japan Near To Agreement On Navies

The Tokio Asahi states: "That the Pacific questions are to be deliberated upon after the disarmament problem must be regarded as a proper and just policy in order to bring the discussion upon the restriction of armaments issue to a successful conclusion. This causes us to be more optimistic over the prospect of the Washington Conference."

The Hochi says: "If an agreement should be arrived at between the Powers even for a portion of the proposed naval restriction, nothing would bring greater blessing upon the people. As we are aware of the urgent necessity and possibility of restricting armaments of the world, we cannot help looking forward with keen interest to the prospect of the Washington Conference."

According to an opinion alleged to have been expressed by Government officials, the Japanese Government are on the whole looking upon the United States' proposals as appropriate and are of opinion that if they should be made the fundamental principles to reach an agreement, it would not be so hard to realise the naval restriction. Be that as it may, it is very likely that the Japanese delegates will introduce some counter-proposals before the Conference.

When the necessity of keeping more powerful Navies on the part of the United States and Great Britain than that of Japan have come to be evident, Japan, as a proof that the two Powers will not concentrate in the Far East their respective navies more powerful than the Japanese navy, will possibly demand that those countries restrict their defensive equipments in Australia, Singapore, the Philippines, Guam and Hawaii and to limit the dispositions of their men-of-war.

WHAT CHINA WANTS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Washington, November 14.—Dr. Wellington Koo states that the Chinese delegation will present proposals for a settlement for the Far Eastern questions, based on the following principles:—

Upon the rehabilitation of China depends the peace of the Far East.

China must be enabled to work out her own economic salvation through the development of the country's national resources.

Chinese territorial integrity must be guaranteed and further inroads through foreign concessions must cease.

China must have absolute political independence and freedom from foreign interference.

Dr. Koo declared that concrete proposals have not yet been framed.

"You know the world was not built in one night. The situation in China cannot be hastily changed."

He added that China did not intend to be importunate in her plan. Discussing the handicaps to China's development, Dr. Koo declared that China ought to control her own railroads. Foreign tariff restrictions, limiting China's imposition on imports to five percent, ought to be modified. He advocated a tariff revision every ten years, pointing out that the present regulations were twenty years old. After expressing the opinion that there was no immediate likelihood of the cancellation of foreign concessions, Dr. Koo said that he hoped one of the results of the Conference would be to end concessions, involving sacrifice of sovereignty. China would be willing to work out in agreement with the Powers a scheme for rehabilitation. She did not desire to reserve to herself all the material benefit from the development of her vast resources but was willing that foreign capital should participate on satisfactory terms, not involving economic aggression.

CALLS PLAN CRUDE

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Osaka, Nov. 15.—The Mainichi expressed astonishment at Mr. Hughes's naval proposals, which it at the same time characterised as crude. The Japanese "eight and eight" plan was based on the United States program of 1916 but Mr. Hughes proposed to throw away this program except one battlesnip, Japan therefore should do likewise.

Whereas the scrapping of the present ships involved huge waste it must be remembered that the United States likewise would bear waste and in any case future-building would involve greater waste. The journal in conclusion urged the nation to accept the proposal, thereby assuring courage and determination equal to that of the United States in making the proposals, leaving minor details to be settled in the future.

The Asahi said that the proposals showed the sincerity and determination of the United States and the comments of the Japanese delegates indicated equal sincerity. The outlook in the Pacific therefore was very bright. The proposals did not surprise the Asahi because they were pacific.

If America was sincere in the Conference some such proposition would have to be made. The Asahi urged the Government not to be petty concerning details and to give up its naval expansion scheme as America proposed to do.

In conclusion the journal declared that the lifting of the naval burden would relieve the people and allow greater development in educati and other peaceful pursuits, and rejoiced that the plan, which the Asahi had been advocating for the past year, was now half accomplished.

JAPAN FAVORABLE

(Eastern News Agency)

Washington, Nov. 14.—Newspapers throughout the United States are welcoming the proposition submitted by Secretary of State Hughes. The Washington "Post" says:

"Judging by Admiral Baron Kato's speech and other announcements made by Japanese delegates, it may fairly be said that Japan is in favor with the purport of the United States' proposals, apart from the question of going into detail. We may also take for granted that Great Britain is inclined to approve of the proposals on the whole, for frequent interviews have already been made between Admiral Baron Kato and Mr. Balfour.

"In view of the fact that on important diplomatic affairs it has hitherto been customary for the delegates of Great Britain and Japan to meet and exchange their views, there would be nothing to wonder at even if the delegates of the two countries have had frequent interviews, but had Mr. Balfour expressed his strong opposition to the United States' proposition in the course of such interviews, Admiral Baron Kato perhaps would not have announced his attitude so promptly."

HARDING THANKS BRIAND

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 14.—M. Briand was received at the White House and warmly congratulated by President Harding on the generous frankness shown in his speech at the inaugural sitting of the Conference. The French delegation was invited on board the yacht of the Secretary of the Navy. On Sunday evening M Briand had a long conversation with Mr. Hughes.

The Washington Conference opened with a coup de theater, the revelation of the programme, elaborated in all its details by Mr. Hughes, provoked general surprise. The effect produced was that of a thunderbolt falling from the sky, says the Matin's special correspondent at Washington.

The aim of Mr. Hughes's practical and precise proposal was unanimously recognised and its effect on the tendency of the Conference, which from today rests unequivocally on the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. It is also agreed that Mr. Hughes's speech is a master-stroke from the point of view of American internal policy as well as foreign policy for, with President Harding, Mr. Hughes has rallied the Republicans and Democrats in a common horror of war.

Cardinal Mercier Urges Penalties For Infractions

BY NORMAN BAXTER

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—(Special To The China Press)

MALINES, Belgium, Nov. 14.—Cardinal Mercier has announced to the Public Ledger service that he has issued an order in his diocese directing parishoners to pray for the success of the Disarmament Conference at Washington.

"Every effort for disarmament," he said, "deserves the most cordial support. Such conferences are hailed with satisfaction by all right-minded men. The work of the conference, however, can only be useful insofar as effective provisions are arranged to meet breaches of international agreements of the future."

Harrington Says Let Diplomats Fix It—He Is Silent

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 14.—Major-General Sir Charles Harington, Commanding the Allied troops of occupation, has returned to Constantinople after two months' leave in England and resumed his post. Interviewed on his arrival, he declared that the last few months had shown that the settlement of the Greek-Turk conflict by force of arms had failed.

He refused to make any statement on the Franco-Turkish Agreement, but added that the French and British Governments must settle the question and that a soldier had no right to discuss it.

The General declared that he would continue to follow a policy of strict neutrality and would refuse any military aid either to the Greeks or the Turks. In conclusion he said:

"I shall try to do everything in my power to maintain law and order with the troops which have been entrusted to me by the Allied Governments."

FORTUNE FROWNS

Chow Ming-san and Yen Fooziang classify among the unlucky. They were on board a Shanghai-Hangchow train, fourth class, Monday. When the train stopped at Fengkien, a passenger discovered that a wallet containing a few dollars had been stolen. The matter was reported to the Inspector who ordered that every passenger be searched. Immediately Chow and Yen shown uneasiness and aroused suspicion. The wallet was not discovered but instead some twenty ounces of opium were found on the two men.

Opportunity Breaks An Established Rule

One explanation is that Tsang Ngoh-sau was conscience stricken over the way he had allowed the authorities to blunder in the first instance.

Tsang was in the prisoner's dock at the Mixed Court yesterday. Only a brief while before he had occupied the same position and, after the police had submitted their evidence, had listened while the Court decided that he was not guilty of a charge of pocket picking.

Within an hour of the time he left the court room Tsang was taken into custody for purloining the purse of a fat gentleman on a Wayside tram car. There wasn't any doubt of the facts this time.

Brought back to court he readily admitted the truth of the irate victim's allegations, and further confessed to two previous convictions for similar offenses.

Three months they gave Tsang, and the policeman who escorted him out to the Black Maria took pains to slip his watch fob inside his pocket.

Bit Of A Breeze In Labor Parley Over New Plans

ed the report of the commission, on the disinfection of wool exposed to carbuncular fever.

The Commission, while recognising the progress made by the British Government in the disinfection of contaminated hair and wool, did not consider that the question had been sufficiently studied to form at present the subject of an international agreement and proposed a resolution, of which the following are the principal points:

The Administrative Council of the Bureau is requested to appoint a consulting commission, representing the principal producing and consuming countries, to submit a report with a view to its examination by the General Conference of 1923. The United States is invited to collaborate in the work of the Commission. The Conference also declares that it is necessary to take action to suppress the disease in animals and for this purpose to find a means to prevent infection.

The Conference in short had widened the question and declares that the question of anthrax infection by leather and skins must be studied. The resolution was adopted without opposition.

The Conference then approached the question of the convention regarding weekly rest.

JAPAN OPPOSES PLAN

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Nov. 13.—The International Labor Conference today adopted the convention, guaranteeing to farm-workers the same rights of association and combination as industrial workers.

Mr. E. Barrett, South African Government delegate, and Sir John Oliver, Australian Government delegate, Messrs. Cookson, Parsons and Tamura, respectively Australian, Canadian and Japanese employers' delegates, opposed the convention. Messrs. Inuzuka and Okamoto, Japanese Government delegates, abstained from voting.

The Conference also adopted the convention, giving farm workers the benefit of the laws, providing for compensation in case of accidents and also adopted a recommendation urging the various Governments to extend to farm workers sickness, invalidity and old age insurance.

Murder Trial Drives Reporter To Suicide

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The correspondent of the Depeche de Toulouse rose abruptly during the Landru trial today, saying that he could stand no more. He left the court, went to his hotel and blew out his brains with a revolver.

Steals Spent Bullets Gets Three Days' Jail

Stealing spent bullets was the charge an unemployed Chinese stood up to answer in the Mixed Court yesterday. The police testified that the man had been found with a basket at the rifle butts picking up the expended misiles hurled at the targets by members of the S.V.C. These, it was pointed out, were the property of the Volunter corps which salvaged and sold them at stated intervals. They laid the interloper away for three days on account of his ignorance of the custom.

Sea-Sickness Can be Prevented!
No Drugging—No Unpleasant After-Effects.
An appreciative doctor wrote:—
"Lady——was placed under my care for the voyage Home. I could not accept any responsibility as I considered she was in great danger from haemorrhage should she vomit. She had always been a very bad sailor. As a precaution she was given two capsules of 'KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE' immediately she went on board. We got into rough water shortly before midnight, but Lady——had an undisturbed night's rest. She took one capsule half-an-hour before dressing. She had breakfast in the dining hall, and assured me she had no sensation of nausea or sickness. Although we had rough weather for five days, and at other periods of the voyage, she was not sea-sick. There was no nausea of any kind, and the remedy produced no after-effects."

LIGHT WEIGHTS' FOOTBALL XI TO START HARD DRILL

Candidates To Get Measured Tonight For Needed Togs; Three New Men Out

All of the lighter men in the Shanghai American Football squad are called upon to report at the Foochow Road Drill Hall this evening at 9 o'clock for organised practice in preparation for the game on Saturday with the American School.

Tonight is the big night for the light eleven, for it will be finally formed, as near as possible, and all candidates will have their measures taken by Secretary Herb Gallop, for whatever equipment is needed by the lightweights to put them on the field in respectable style. Gallop does not say just how far he can go with providing new togs, but he wears a promising air. He does, however, insist that all lightweights let their needs be known tonight so that he can have tomorrow and Friday to work on the list.

Last night's drill at the armory had the largest squad of lightweights at work yet this season. It was also given out that additional light men would be available for the eleven, including Sennett, Burgess and Doyle. These three with Griffith, the two Hewitts, Mahoney, Smith, Stovall, Posner, Neal, Dunn, and Whitcomb are expected to fill the squad.

The football club now is working on the lagging heavyweight stars who have not yet this season gotten out for practice. These include Anderson, last year's center, and Rodger, last year's half back. The others of the big squad are figured on as assured for the season.

The game Saturday with the school, though not yet booked is counted on as a certainty. The School team will be idle, and with the assurance that a lighter eleven will go againt them it is certain that Coach Van Hook will fill in the date.

Hockey League Organises With Four Clubs Entered

Four teams entered the Shanghai Hockey League last night at its fifth annual general meeting held at the Rowing Club. Regular league play is set to commence Saturday, Dec. 3.

The teams represented at last night's meeting were the Portuguese Club, the Harlequins, and two Police teams, one of Sikhs and the other of foreigners.

Aside from the league play two interport matches were forecasted, one with Hankow and another with Hongkong. The former match if played will be held during the China New Year, with Shanghai visiting the central port. The Hongkong match, if it develops will be between the 72nd Punjabis team from Hongkong, composed of British officers and Indians, and the local Sikh eleven, at Shanghai.

Mr. H. M. Mann, president of the league, presented the League shield to Mr. Hotchkiss, representing the Police North which won the league honors last season over the Portuguese, 2nd, the Harlequins 3rd and the Police South 4th.

After the accounts were passed and a comfortable balance was noted, Mr. Mann spoke of the future of the game in Shanghai, emphasising the urgency of new members coming into the game to replace the many who have dropped out. He also spoke of the need for a good smooth playing field as the first essential consideration to good games. He hoped that he would obtain a more suitable allocation of grounds as a result of certain efforts being made in that connection.

Several unattached players attended the meeting, and others not present offered themselves for participation in the league schedule. It was suggested that these new men might be formed into a separate eleven, but the subject was held over for further consideration. It is likely for the present that these unattached

Tientsin Teams Are Getting Into Shape For Thanksgiving

15th Inf. Team Is Heavy Lot Of Players; Great Interest Is Being Shown

Tientsin, Nov. 13.—On the afternoon, Thanksgiving day, the public of Tientsin will be able to witness the first game of real American football ever held in North China. On this all important date the 15th. Infantry eleven will meet a team comprised of men from the Peking Marines.

The local infantry team is a heavy aggregation. The "line" averages slightly better than 190 lbs. and the "Backs" about 160. This is a better average weight than the big University teams in America will tip the scales and, if nothing else, it should be able to hold almost any team for "downs."

The local team has been working out for four hours daily during the last few weeks and all the men are in good condition. There have been a few minor accidents in practice so far. But both of these men will, most likely, be in the game on Thanksgiving day.

These same teams will play in Peking early in December and are afterwards going to Taiyuanfu as guests of the Governor of Shansi who is an ardent supporter of this roughest of games. This gentleman witnessed many contests while he was in America and thinks that it is the peer of all games of sport.

There is a great deal of interest being shown among the local Chinese in this football game and, in all probability, there will be a record crowd out at the Recreation Grounds on the coming 24th.

Green Is Winner In Billiard Final At Customs Club

Captain E. B. Green defeated Captain B. H. Gowing in the final of the Customs Club billiards championship on the club tables Monday night by a score of 500 to 386. Captain Green was in splendid form, making one run of 52 and several of between 30 and 40. A large number of members watched the match.

Yes! They See China, As Whangpoo Fish Sees Sky

along together almost as well as they would if they happened to meet as private citizens." But generally, the only peaceful time enjoyed by a deputation is during the first few days out, when the members are too seasick to get acquainted with each other.

OUT WITH THE HAMMERS

stop talking in the imperative mood and a few wan deputators manage to creep out of their staterooms, the era of good feeling is at an end. If the party happens to be a Sunday-school one, there is usually a gentleman who crawled in beneath the banner under false pretenses and who develops a scandalous interest in fantan. Or else there is a young lady who enrolled with the idea of ditching the party as soon as possible, and who goes to the masquerade dance in a bathing-suit.

Whether the deputation is missionary, political, or commercial, there is certain to be one feminine member along who is referred to as "that woman" by all the other ladies after the third day out. In the Sunday-school groups, it usually happens that the pool on the ship's run is won by a member of the party who put up a bet surreptiously and then lacks courage to claim it.

Later on it develops that the commission also includes the traveler who is perpetually anxious about his luggage, the one who refuses to accept a north room in a hotel, and the other one who keeps a diary and tries to get down the names of all the temples.

LUGGAGE HOUND THERE

Japan, with her usual perspicacity, observed long ago that America suffers from deputationitis and proceeded to use the ailment as far as possible to her own advantage. When, changing the metaphor, the first commissions trickled through, the Nipponese darted about madly in an effort to entertain. But now that the trickle has become a steady stream, they have systematised things so that the entertainment programs are as much alike as a row of newly-born Fords.

JAPANESE SOOTHING SYRUP

Observing also the native enjoyment manifested in meeting up with titles, the Japanese took a few barons out of stock and laid them aside for the special purpose of entertaining deputations. Then, having prepared a few rules and regulations for frock-coats at the station, chrysanthemum dinners, souvenir fans, visits to famous gardens, and a little light on the Korean question, they sat back with the satisfaction of having systematised another national industry. All Japanese hosts of commissions are charter members of the Society for Preventing Foreigners from Learning any Unpleasant Facts, and as a result, the visitors leave with a somewhat scrambled impression of silk hats, bows, raw fish eaten in the glow of lanterns, ribbed sails on the Inland Sea and temple toriis nestling among the pines.

LIVE DOWN IDLE WORDS

In China, where the government is too busy fighting with itself to pay much attention to distinguished visitors, the burden of the entertainment falls on consulates, commercial groups, and missionaries. These classes, however, ably abetted by Chinese guilds and other organisations, usually rise to the occasion so nobly and feed the visitors so continuously that their chief impression of the Orient is that of one long banquet board. Then having taken the commission to see a temple, an orphan asylum, and a silk mill, their foreign hosts return to private life once more and try to live down some of the things that the visitors said in their public speeches.

The commission members, on the other hand, sail away from the jetty to the tune of a Chinese brass band, return to Lansing, Mich., or Peoria, Ill., put the Japanese souvenirs on the what-not, give an address in the Fourth Union Church, and rejoice forever in the title of an authority on The Far East.

LANDSCAPE STILL SAME

As we said before, there are deputations and deputations. Some of them return home solidly upholstered with useful facts, but these groups work quietly for several months on a real study of the country and are usually unheralded by brass bands.

And in the meantime, the tides rise and fall in the Yellow Sea and the Yangtze rolls down to the ocean, just as if China hadn't been completely made over.

Cotton Trust Bank Gives Reasons For Dissolution

The cause of dissolution of the recently formed Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai is set forth in a statement issued by the company, which also takes exception to some of the contentions in the rescript from the Ministry of Finance calling for alteration of the name and regulations.

The statement follows:

The Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai, Limited, of which the promotors were Mr. Zee Pin-we and others and over which several months have been spent in preparatory measures has received recently a rescript from the Ministry of Finance No. 622, in which it is stated: "Whereas a trust company and a banking institution being two independent forms of business should not be conducted concurrently as one concern and whereas the regulations of the Industrial Bank of China cannot be cited as precedent and made applicable to the new concern, the promotors are hereby instructed to modify the name of their company and to alter its regulations to be followed by a fresh application for the approval of this Ministry."

At the share-holders' meeting convened for the discussion of this rescript it was unanimously resolved to dissolve the concern.

The following is the text of the reply sent by the Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai, Limited to the Minister of Finance:—

"Sir: We have respectfully noted the contents of your rescript No. 622 dated October 28, 1921. At a meeting of the whole body of the shareholders which took place on November 9, the shareholders, acting in pursuance of article 243 of the Ordinance of Commercial Associations, unanimously resolved that the company is to be dissolved and the investment of the shareholders to be refunded to them and we hereby petition to you to regard our original application for the approval of your Ministry as being withdrawn.

"We beg further to state that this resolution was adopted on the following grounds:

1.—The object of this company is to promote the cotton-yarn and kindred industries and among the promotors about 90 percent were directly connected with the cotton-yarn trade. As there had already been in existence a Bank called The Shanghai Cotton Bank Limited, it was found necessary to call the new company, 'the Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai Limited' by way of distinction, but the regulations as they stand bear full testimony to the fact that this company does not concern itself in any way with the functions of a trust company.

2.—The rescript states that the regulations governing the Industrial Bank of China were specially sanctioned by the President. If this sanction could have been given in favor of a bank when there was no precedent to offer how much more reasonable it is that the regulations of the present company should be deemed practicable when the registration of the Industrial Bank of China as a limited liability company was cited as an authority.

3.—The rescript takes exception to the election of officers regarding the election as being premature. Your attention is directed to article 101 of the Ordinance of Commercial Associations from which you will see that this company has acted quite properly in the election of its officers because 25 percent of the subscribed capital has been paid in full.

We have the honor to be, Sir, Your obedient servants.

The Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai, Ltd.

Leap Overboard Gives Prisoners Freedom

The story of how two prisoners being sent to Hankow from Shanghai made their escape from the guards in attendance on them is told in the Chinese press.

The two men, evidently military offenders, were on board a Yangtsze steamer and were not placed in irons because the guard in charge was acquainted with them and did not look for an attempt to escape. When the boat was just outside Woosung the pair slipped overboard. They were picked up by a Pootung boatman and taken ashore where they were questioned by a Chinese policeman. They explained that they had boarded the wrong ship and that the only way they could get back to shore was by swimming for it. The policeman let them go and they took train to Shanghai.

SOVIET WANTS SEMENOFF MEN OUT OF GERMANY

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Oct. 20 (by mail).—The representative of Soviet Russia in Germany, Mr. V. Kopp, some time ago sent to the German Minister of Foreign Affairs the following note, informing him of the presence of Semenoff's agents in Germany and asking him to immediately dissolve the representation organised by them in that country:

"Mr. Minister:—I have the honor to submit to you the original together with copies and photographic reproductions and accurate German translation of two documents which emanated from the office of the Representative of Ataman Semenoff in Germany. From these documents it is clear that a certain Colonel Freiberg, aided by a certain Captain Aparovich, has established in the territory of the German Government a representation of the troops who rebelled under the command of Semenoff, against the Russian Soviet Republic in the Far East. It is also clear that this representation is conducting recruiting activities here with the object of supporting these troops.

"In presenting to you, Mr. Minister, the above mentioned documents, I take the liberty to respectfully point out that the mere existence in the territory of the German Government of this so-called representative violates the basic thought of Paragraph 1 of the Treaty of May 6, 1921. The permission given by the German authorities for the recruiting activities of Colonel Freiberg cannot in any way be brought into accord with the friendly relations between the German Government and the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic. Moreover, such activities cannot be regarded otherwise than a crime against the laws of Germany.

"I have the honor to ask you, Mr. Minister, in the name of my Government, for the immediate dissolution of the representation organised by Colonel Freiberg, the termination of his recruiting activities, as well as for the indictment of Colonel Freiberg and Captain Aparovich for these acts."

20 CENT COTTON NO WORRY TO WORLD BUYERS

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 14.—The cotton market this week has developed into a trading affair with a somewhat downward trend based on tired liquidation influenced by reports of a less active spot demand and apprehensions that the ginning figures from now on will tend towards increase in estimates of the crop. The weakness, however, has undoubtedly cleared away a lot of miscellaneous long contracts that have been hanging over the market since the buying fever attendant upon the Bureau report subsided a week ago.

It is now pointed out that the export situation and domestic consumption should be watched closely as being the two influences that will have a decisive bearing on the course of prices. There has been no fresh information with reference to the pending shipments for Japan. Estimates as to the amount of cotton Japanese firms are planning to ship from New York range up to 60,000 bales, at least freight room is being sought for about this amount.

It is being predicted further that the local inspected stock will have decreased close to 100,000 bales by December 1. Cotton is being sold quite steadily out of the local stock for shipment to Northern and Eastern mills and the reductions, so far reported in the local supply figures, have been largely due to these shipments. A moderate amount of cotton has been sold this week for shipment to New England, both from the local stock and from the South.

PLAN LOW PRODUCTION

It is being claimed by some that foreign countries will try to obtain just a little more than their actual requirements to insure themselves against any possibility of a crop next season not being equal to the continued increase in the consumption over that of this season. Some of the advices from the interior have insisted that farmers are not willing to sell on declines but are determined to hold this year's very small production for a higher price. That the goods trade is becoming accustomed to 20 cent cotton is indicated in reports from that department and it is said that contracts now on the books for goods are well covered with cotton, but that new contracts are not so easily covered at a satisfactory margin because of the premiums commanded on actual staples of a given grade.

Reports from the South have also indicated that shippers and country buyers are pretty well covered for their immediate wants and are inclined to withdraw from the market awaiting further developments. Of the 80,000 bales taken up in New York on October notices very few contracts have been re-tendered, and it is considered likely that the receivers of the bulk of the cotton are planning to ship out most of it.

WEATHER FAVORABLE

The weather has continued unusually favorable throughout the South for picking and ginning cotton. There has been frost in many Northern sections of the belt but without material damage as the crop is too far advanced. In most States picking is unusually well along and it is said there will be no top crop in Northern and Western Texas.

The President of the American Cotton Association has written the Census Bureau urging that it gather from each ginner, and such other reliable sources as are available, an estimate on the percentage reports sent in to the Department, declaring that any comparisons of ginnings of the present crop with those of previous years when full crops were ginned would be very misleading and damaging.

It is reported that more than 800 Arkansas farmers have signed contracts to market over 50,000 bales of cotton through the Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, representing more than one quarter of the State's quota of 200,000 bales. In some other parts of the belt, however, the success of co-operative marketing has not been so marked.

MILLS BUY HEAVILY

Advices from Vicksburg during the week said there was a good demand for spots and that Eastern mills were the heaviest buyers, although there was also a good demand from South Carolina mills. The spot short interest for October shipment was declared to be good sized.

LET US DO YOUR PAINTING
THE TEARON DANIEL COMPANY

It's practically impossible these days for a man to get a couple of jumps ahead of the wolf without his friends learning of it and wanting to float a loan or half a dozen charitable- organisations descending upon him with endowment theories.

Only as long ago as last Sunday night, for instance, a Chinese police constable was providing incentive toward peace and good order along a street in Wayside by walking through it when he came unheralded upon Yoong Van-foo, Waung Ah-kung and Wong Siau Ng-tsz. The three were engaged in argument involving the spirited exchange of language, stools, brickbats and whatever movable furnishings an abutting teashop afforded. Being unable to get at the bottom of the affair the C.P.C. took the trio to the station, where the sergeant demanded explanations.

With a sparkling splutter of adjective Yoong erupted into speech and for the next few minutes the ancestral tombs of Waung and Wong must have resounded to the rattle of their revolving progenitors. Then he got down to facts.

"It's like this," he irately declaimed. "Yesterday I went out and stole a wheelbarrow. I pawned it for $16. These—(section snipped out by censor)—found out about it and this evening they caught me alone and demanded a share."

Before handing the warder the keys to the cells the sergeant read Yoong a little homily on the utter infra digness of stealing wheelbarrows and asked how he had fallen thus low.

"I was advised to do it," said Yoong, on the defensive. "I owed Koo Zu-zieu $20 and he pointed out the wheelbarrow and told me to get what I could for it and pay up."

So they corraled Koo too and all of them appeared in Court yesterday, when Koo denied inciting Yoong to theft and Waung and Wong explained that they were merely Yoong's guarantors at the time he borrowed the twenty and were simply urging upon him the importance of a settlement at the time they were arrested.

Yoong clung determinedly to his original story and the guards at the Municipal jail will doubtless know it by heart when they let him out three weeks from yesterday.

Many Poisoned By Use Of Frozen Eggs

During the hot summer that has prevailed in France there have been many cases of poisoning from eating pastry with a so-called "cream" filling. Investigation shows that this filling was made from frozen eggs. These are imported from China into the United States in large quantities.

Dr. Lindet, a member of the French Academy of Sciences, who has made a special study of the matter, says frozen eggs are unfit for any other use than in making biscuits, in which the prolonged baking at high temperature kills the germs with which they are contaminated.

FEDERATED STATE URGED FOR CHINA BY DR. SCHURMAN

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 12.—Speaking at the Fall Reunion of the American College Club of North China, held last night at the Wagons-Lits Hotel, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, American Minister to China, said that the great contribution of America to the principles of government was the idea of a federated state, an idea which he suggested Chinese students in American colleges should bring back to their country with them for application in the Republic of China.

Dr. Schurman, who was the principal speaker of the evening, was introduced by Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs, who acted as toastmaster, and his talk was followed by the address of Mr. Yen Kung-cho, delivered by Mr. Li because of the latter's unavoidable absence, and a few words from Mr. T. Clarence Sun, the newly elected president of the American College Club. Some 300 guests were present at the banquet which was enlivened by college songs and cheers and followed by dancing.

U. S. MINISTER SPEAKS

The American Minister, after commenting on the difficulties which faced the Chinese students returning from American colleges in retaining the ideals which they had acquired in the United States, said that it was his belief that the spirit of democracy and the idea of a federal system were the best things which the students could bring China from America.

The idea of sovereignty being divided between the central government and its constituent parts was the contribution of America to the world, and in view of many points of political similarity between America and China, this idea, Dr. Schurman said, could well be adopted in China. In this republic it was local government rather than central authority which was essential to the continued existence of the nation.

As to the future of China, the Minister went on, "a nation which has endured for thousands of years, which is intellectually and morally sound, thrifty and industrious, and which is undoubtedly on the right track, such a nation cannot fail of a successful solution of its problems."

WORK OUT OWN PROBLEMS

In regard to foreign assistance Dr. Schurman emphatically stated that a nation, as an individual, must work out its own problems and any foreign assistance would afford but temporary relief; in the spirit of the country itself lay its possibilities for future development. The Conference at Washington can relieve no nation of its obligations, and today when the Orient is the only foreseen danger point in the world's peace and China is at the center of the Pacific situation, the Powers can only try to make conditions favorable for the relief of existing problems, a relief which must be effected by China herself.

As to the prospect of the ideals of peace being furthered by the Pacific Conference, the speaker concluded, China has for centuries more than any other nation been anti-militaristic, and we can only hope that the result of the deliberations at Washington will be the application of those ideals for which China has so long stood.

As a result of elections for officers for the ensuing year which were held immediately after the dinner, the following men were chosen to head the American College Club during the activities of the 1921-1922 season: Honorary President, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, President Mr. T. Clarence Sun, First Vice-President Mr. Willis R. Peck; Second Vice-President, Mr. F. S. Chien; Corresponding Secretary, Mr. Carrington Goodrich; Recording Secretary, Mr. Frederick Sze; Treasurer, Mr. P. A. Swartz, and Executive Committee, Messrs. E. W. Mills, Maxwell Hamilton, R. M. Cross, L. C. Chang and T. T. Lew.

Artist Gives Talk Before American Woman's Club

A large attendance at the meeting of the American Woman's Club held yesterday afternoon at the Carlton greeted with enthusiasm the musical and literary program presented. Mrs. Chapman, Vice-President of the Music Department, rendered very effectively two piano selections—Liszt's Stude in D Flat and Brahms' Rhapsody in G Minor—also serving as a skilled and sympathetic accompanist to the charming group of "Baby Ballads,"—"Bells," "Blossoms," Dreams," "Darkness," and "Morning"—so feelingly given by Mrs. H. D. Rodger.

Miss Lucille Douglass spoke informally on memories of her art student days in Europe, dwelling particularly on her life in Holland and Spain, as being off the main thoroughfares worn dusty by the feet of professional "trippers." Although Miss Douglass first planned to work in portraiture and hence naturally began her studies in Paris she soon developed a penchant for outdoor work, with a special interest in human nature as seen in the brightly colored market places of sunny climes. So it was that she discovered quaint Volendam, a little Dutch town almost too picturesque to be real, where the fullest of skirts, the stiffest of lace caps, and the baggiest of trousers make up a rarely found Holland costume, which has not altered in the last six or seven hundred years.

In restful Volendam, the club members heard, there are no styles, even the children are miniature replicas of their elders, a girl's dowry consists in an abundance of substantial woolen petticoats, a damsel who has reached the advanced age of twenty-four is no longer eligible matrimonially, except as the bride of a widower, and a family of eleven (few are smaller) may be supported on $150 a year (N. B. Pre-war statistics). Miss Douglass lived in one of the tiny houses, wore the costume and through the friendly curiosity of her models shared the real village life.

Before the audience was ready to leave the dyke-land the speaker whirled them away to the less placid but even more fascinating land of toreadors and mantillas, of fierce lights and dark shadows, and graphically pictured first the religious pageant held in Seville during Holy Week under the management of the different craft guilds, and then put in sharp contrast the savage exhibition of the bull fight.

The next meeting of the Literary Section of the Club will be held on Friday of this week at 4:30 at the Royal Asiatic Society's Hall. Mrs. C. H. Robertson will speak on "The Golden Age of Yao and Shun" and Mrs. H. A. Wilbur will give a review of Chinese art in lantern slides, including pictures of rare Chinese porcelains owned by Shanghai connoisseurs.

The Music Section will give a general program on Tuesday, December 6, at 5 p.m. at the Carlton.

At the Mothers' Section meeting, held at the Carlton this morning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. J. B. Sawyer will speak on the "Re-arrangement and Re-creation of a Room" and Mrs. L. E. McLachlin will discuss "Color Schemes." On November 30 the Executive Committee of the Mothers' Section will be at home from 4:30 to 7:00 at the residence of Mrs. Bryan, 25 Route Ghisi, to all members and others wishing to associate themselves with this section.

The Social Service Section presented for sale a number of attractive Christmas cards, ranging in price from five to sixty cents. These are being sold for the benefit of the Foreign Women's Home and may be obtained at the Mission Book Store, 13 North Szechuen Road.

ARMISTICE DAY IN CHEFOO HAS MANY FEATURES

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, Nov. 12.—There was no football match arranged for this afternoon owing to the difficulty which it was felt there would be in getting an eleven to play the school after the celebrations of yesterday. The ball in the hall of the Club Annex did not end till the early hours of this morning. Armistice Day of this year was one of the best anniversaries we have had. A capital program had been drawn up. The Sons of Britain Society had worked hard beforehand to make all preparations and the result of their efforts was an unprecedented success.

Chefoo first of all had a gala appearance. There was a fine display of bunting. The Stars and Stripes, the Union Jack and the flags of the Republic were everywhere prominent. The service in St. Andrew's church was well attended. The Chaplain gave a fine address before the holding of the two minutes silence. He reminded his hearers that they were returning thanks to Almighty God for a great victory. That victory had made secure the property prosperity and lives of the congregation present in the church.

It had been obtained at a huge sacrifice of life. Any attempt to boast about the victory was done away by the thought of what it had cost the Allies to secure it. It was therefore most appropriate that the departed should be remembered. He asked the congregation to rise in memory of the dead and to observe the two minutes silence.

The firing of the gun on Settlement Hill was the signal for everyone to rise and as the congregation rose from their seats there was a solemn stillness. In addition to those inside the church, the foreign members of the community, the students of the China Inland Mission Schools and others in the Port observed the ceremony.

The second item of the program was the Sons of Britain tiffin in the Club. This was for members and associates and the only guest was Mr. Mayers, a former Commissioner of Customs in Chefoo and at present Commissioner of Customs in Chinkiang. He is at present here on holiday and so it was peculiarly appropriate that he should have been invited to attend the S. O. B. tiffin. The numerous toasts were duly honored and then after a sumptuous repast all went on to the verandah steps, while the Chinese photographer took a photo of all who had been at the tiffin.

Then the members dispersed to change into their costumes for the football match. This took place on the recreation ground and was between an eleven composed of S.O.B.'s members and the rest. Both teams wore fancy dress, the S. O. B.'s being attired in women's costumes varying from that of the market women to the flapper of the modern day. The match was more of a burlesque than a finely contested struggle but it provided intense enjoyment for the large number of Chinese and foreign spectators who had come along to see it.

Then, too, afternoon tea was provided by the wives of the S.O.B. members and the police band was in attendance playing popular airs. The time went amazingly fast and when the match was over (the S.O.B.'s in spite of being handicapped by their costumes, won by three goals to one), it was getting dusk.

The ball in the hall of the Chefoo Club annex was perhaps the finest masquerade that this port has had. Every variety of costume appeared to be represented, and there was much amusement at the mistakes and embarrassment of those who tried to guess who the different folk were who were dancing. The hall was completely metamorphosed. It had been turned into an African kraal.

The Jazz band was composed of musicians attired in a weird costume while around their waists were butcher knives giving them with their horrible countenances, a very forbidding appearance. But they provided the necessary music for the dancing. An excellent supper was served and it must have 3 o'clock in the morning before the proceedings in connection with the celebration of the anniversary could be said to have terminated.

Persian Dancer Up On Charge Of Theft

Jan Tagi Ogli, 21 Miller Road, claiming to be a Persian dancer, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday on the charge of flim-flamming a Woosung Road flour shop proprietor out of $90.

According to the complainant's story the man, with a companion, came to the shop and purchased two sacks of flour, tendering a $100 note in payment. When his $90 in change was placed on the counter the purchasers snatched both it and the $100 note and fled. Ogli was later seen on the street by one of the shop assistants and was taken into custody.

The case was remanded for one week to permit further police investigation.

CONTROVERSY OF LADY AND TAILOR ENDED IN COURT

It Was About A Leather Coat And She Said 'Thing Didn't Fit'

Questions of fit, style and quality of a garment of leather without and of shimmering silk within, and a lady's garment at that, were thrust upon Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court yesterday when a suit that was begun by William Johnsford, a tailor of No. 1 Ward Road, against Mrs. T. E. Poignand was called for trial.

Testimony given disclosed that Mrs. Poignand had ordered the leather coat from the tailor and when it was completed she refused to take it on the ground that 'the thing didn't fit.' The tailor's claim was for $90.

As measure to aid the Court in reaching a decision proceedings were halted long enough to send for the garment and when it arrived Mrs. Poignand tried it on. Judge Grain confessed that he could not qualify as an expert on the subject of women's clothes—explaining that he is a bachelor. He viewed the garment on the lady doubtfully.

"It does seem a little tight across the shoulders," he remarked cautiously. Some little controversy of witnesses and counsel followed and then Judge Grain announced his decision, giving judgment in favor of the tailor, but at the same time holding that Johnsford must make certain alterations to the coat.

Andersen, Meyer Co. Is Given Judgment

Judgment in the sum of Tls. 100 was given in favor of Andersen, Meyer and Company against Tze Chan-chu in the Mixed Court yesterday when it was disclosed that he had failed to return to the company certain property that had come into his position after it had been stolen from Andersen, Meyer and Company. The suit originally was brought against four defendants, described as Tsung Yuen and others and it was alleged that these four had failed to return property which had been stolen from Andersen, Meyer and Company and which they had purchased.

It was ascertained at yesterday's hearing that one of the four had returned the stolen property that he had bought and the case against him was withdrawn. Another of the defendants has become bankrupt and unable to return the goods and a third has disappeared. Tze Chan-chu put forward the defense that he had been an innocent purchaser, but the judgment was entered against him.

TO RESTORE TAX

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 12.—A meeting of the Cabinet this morning decided that Mr. Yung Hao should be appointed Chief of the Financial Department of the Province of Kirin. It was agreed that a scheme should be drafted to limit the period wherein food-stuffs for famine relief will be exempted from Likin and other taxation, in conformity with the plan adopted in Anhuei where such exemption will cease after February next.

Labor Council Is Lauded By Minister

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The session of the Supreme Council of Labor was opened this morning by M. Daniel Vincent, the Minister of Labor, who stated that the principal labor laws were a result of the activities of the Council.

"Street Urchins" Tonight

All the preliminary indications are that "The Street Urchins," four act comedy-drama which is to be produced by local amateurs at the Lyceum Theater tonight, will prove a most pleasing success.

The piece, which will be repeated tomorrow night, is being given in aid of the Wayport Rooms and the Charity Organisations Society.

In addition to the comedy-drama itself there are to be individual turns in singing and dancing. There'll be a Shanghai version of "Al Jolson" and the "Child Wonder" will have a first appearance.

Members of the cast include Dr. V. M. Haimovitch, the author, Messrs. Renwick, the Silas brothers and D. Elias, the Misses Haimovitch, Pill Berry, Irene Taylor and J. Houghton.

Booking is at Moutrie's.

The Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai, Ltd.

The object of this Bank, as was announced at the Promotors' Meeting, was to stabilise and develop the cotton industry by placing before the cotton-yarn merchants financial facilities for conducting their business. The subscribed capital of the Bank is $5,000,000 and a quarter of this sum has already been paid in full.

With the approved regulations governing the Industrial Bank of China as precedent, the regulations of this Bank were drawn up and submitted to the Ministry of Finance for its approval.

A rescript has now been received from the Ministry of Finance ordering certain fundamental alterations in our regulations on the ground that the regulations approved in the case of the Industrial Bank of China were specially sanctioned by the President upon the special application of the Ministry of Finance and as such are not applicable to any other bank.

At an extraordinary meeting of the whole body of the shareholders held on November 9, the following resolution was passed:

WHEREAS the aims and objects of this Company, which has been formed after a careful survey of the existing needs and potential developments of the cotton-yarn industry, have not received the sympathetic consideration of the Ministry of Finance and WHEREAS the said Ministry of Finance has insisted upon various changes in the regulations of this Company, which changes could not be effected without defeating the main objects of the enterprise as were embodied in our original scheme, we as shareholders of the Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai, Limited, acting in pursuance of Section 3 of Article No. 213 of the Ordinance of Commercial Associations, hereby resolve that this Company be and it is hereby dissolved.

A vigorous protest has been filed by this Company direct with the Ministry of Finance.

ARMISTICE DAY IN CHEFOO HAS MANY FEATURES

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, Nov. 12.—There was no football match arranged for this afternoon owing to the difficulty which it was felt there would be in getting an eleven to play the school after the celebrations of yesterday. The ball in the hall of the Club Annex did not end till the early hours of this morning. Armistice Day of this year was one of the best anniversaries we have had. A capital program had been drawn up. The Sons of Britain Society had worked hard beforehand to make all preparations and the result of their efforts was an unprecedented success.

Chefoo first of all had a gala appearance. There was a fine display of bunting. The Stars and Stripes, the Union Jack and the flags of the Republic were everywhere prominent. The service in St. Andrew's church was well attended. The Chaplain gave a fine address before the holding of the two minutes silence. He reminded his hearers that they were returning thanks to Almighty God for a great victory. That victory had made secure the property prosperity and lives of the congregation present in the church.

It had been obtained at a huge sacrifice of life. Any attempt to boast about the victory was done away by the thought of what it had cost the Allies to secure it. It was therefore most appropriate that the departed should be remembered. He asked the congregation to rise in memory of the dead and to observe the two minutes silence.

The firing of the gun on Settlement Hill was the signal for everyone to rise and as the congregation rose from their seats there was a solemn stillness. In addition to those inside the church, the foreign members of the community, the students of the China Inland Mission Schools and others in the Port observed the ceremony.

The second item of the program was the Sons of Britain tiffin in the Club. This was for members and associates and the only guest was Mr. Mayers, a former Commissioner of Customs in Chefoo and at present Commissioner of Customs in Chinkiang. He is at present here on holiday and so it was peculiarly appropriate that he should have been invited to attend the S. O. B. tiffin. The numerous toasts were duly honored and then after a sumptuous repast all went on to the verandah steps, while the Chinese photographer took a photo of all who had been at the tiffin.

Then the members dispersed to change into their costumes for the football match. This took place on the recreation ground and was between an eleven composed of S.O.B.'s members and the rest. Both teams wore fancy dress, the S. O. B.'s being attired in women's costumes varying from that of the market women to the flapper of the modern day. The match was more of a burlesque than a finely contested struggle but it provided intense enjoyment for the large number of Chinese and foreign spectators who had come along to see it.

Then, too, afternoon tea was provided by the wives of the S.O.B. members and the police band was in attendance playing popular airs. The time went amazingly fast and when the match was over (the S.O.B.'s in spite of being handicapped by their costumes, won by three goals to one), it was getting dusk.

The ball in the hall of the Chefoo Club annex was perhaps the finest masquerade that this port has had. Every variety of costume appeared to be represented, and there was much amusement at the mistakes and embarrassment of those who tried to guess who the different folk were who were dancing. The hall was completely metamorphosed. It had been turned into an African kraal.

The Jazz band was composed of musicians attired in a weird costume while around their waists were butcher knives giving them with their horrible countenances, a very forbidding appearance. But they provided the necessary music for the dancing. An excellent supper was served and it must have 3 o'clock in the morning before the proceedings in connection with the celebration of the anniversary could be said to have terminated.

Persian Dancer Up On Charge Of Theft

Jan Tagi Ogli, 21 Miller Road, claiming to be a Persian dancer, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday on the charge of flim-flamming a Woosung Road flour shop proprietor out of $90.

According to the complainant's story the man, with a companion, came to the shop and purchased two sacks of flour, tendering a $100 note in payment. When his $90 in change was placed on the counter the purchasers snatched both it and the $100 note and fled. Ogli was later seen on the street by one of the shop assistants and was taken into custody.

The case was remanded for one week to permit further police investigation.

CONTROVERSY OF LADY AND TAILOR ENDED IN COURT

It Was About A Leather Coat And She Said 'Thing Didn't Fit'

Questions of fit, style and quality of a garment of leather without and of shimmering silk within, and a lady's garment at that, were thrust upon Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court yesterday when a suit that was begun by William Johnsford, a tailor of No. 1 Ward Road, against Mrs. T. E. Poignand was called for trial.

Testimony given disclosed that Mrs. Poignand had ordered the leather coat from the tailor and when it was completed she refused to take it on the ground that 'the thing didn't fit.' The tailor's claim was for $90.

As measure to aid the Court in reaching a decision proceedings were halted long enough to send for the garment and when it arrived Mrs. Poignand tried it on. Judge Grain confessed that he could not qualify as an expert on the subject of women's clothes—explaining that he is a bachelor. He viewed the garment on the lady doubtfully.

"It does seem a little tight across the shoulders," he remarked cautiously. Some little controversy of witnesses and counsel followed and then Judge Grain announced his decision, giving judgment in favor of the tailor, but at the same time holding that Johnsford must make certain alterations to the coat.

Andersen, Meyer Co. Is Given Judgment

Judgment in the sum of Tls. 100 was given in favor of Andersen, Meyer and Company against Tze Chan-chu in the Mixed Court yesterday when it was disclosed that he had failed to return to the company certain property that had come into his position after it had been stolen from Andersen, Meyer and Company. The suit originally was brought against four defendants, described as Tsung Yuen and others and it was alleged that these four had failed to return property which had been stolen from Andersen, Meyer and Company and which they had purchased.

It was ascertained at yesterday's hearing that one of the four had returned the stolen property that he had bought and the case against him was withdrawn. Another of the defendants has become bankrupt and unable to return the goods and a third has disappeared. Tze Chan-chu put forward the defense that he had been an innocent purchaser, but the judgment was entered against him.

TO RESTORE TAX

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 12.—A meeting of the Cabinet this morning decided that Mr. Yung Hao should be appointed Chief of the Financial Department of the Province of Kirin. It was agreed that a scheme should be drafted to limit the period wherein food-stuffs for famine relief will be exempted from Likin and other taxation, in conformity with the plan adopted in Anhuei where such exemption will cease after February next.

Labor Council Is Lauded By Minister

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The session of the Supreme Council of Labor was opened this morning by M. Daniel Vincent, the Minister of Labor, who stated that the principal labor laws were a result of the activities of the Council.

"Street Urchins" Tonight

All the preliminary indications are that "The Street Urchins," four act comedy-drama which is to be produced by local amateurs at the Lyceum Theater tonight, will prove a most pleasing success.

The piece, which will be repeated tomorrow night, is being given in aid of the Wayport Rooms and the Charity Organisations Society.

In addition to the comedy-drama itself there are to be individual turns in singing and dancing. There'll be a Shanghai version of "Al Jolson" and the "Child Wonder" will have a first appearance.

Members of the cast include Dr. V. M. Haimovitch, the author, Messrs. Renwick, the Silas brothers and D. Elias, the Misses Haimovitch, Pill Berry, Irene Taylor and J. Houghton.

Booking is at Moutrie's.

The Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai, Ltd.

The object of this Bank, as was announced at the Promotors' Meeting, was to stabilise and develop the cotton industry by placing before the cotton-yarn merchants financial facilities for conducting their business. The subscribed capital of the Bank is $5,000,000 and a quarter of this sum has already been paid in full.

With the approved regulations governing the Industrial Bank of China as precedent, the regulations of this Bank were drawn up and submitted to the Ministry of Finance for its approval.

A rescript has now been received from the Ministry of Finance ordering certain fundamental alterations in our regulations on the ground that the regulations approved in the case of the Industrial Bank of China were specially sanctioned by the President upon the special application of the Ministry of Finance and as such are not applicable to any other bank.

At an extraordinary meeting of the whole body of the shareholders held on November 9, the following resolution was passed:

WHEREAS the aims and objects of this Company, which has been formed after a careful survey of the existing needs and potential developments of the cotton-yarn industry, have not received the sympathetic consideration of the Ministry of Finance and WHEREAS the said Ministry of Finance has insisted upon various changes in the regulations of this Company, which changes could not be effected without defeating the main objects of the enterprise as were embodied in our original scheme, we as shareholders of the Cotton Trust Bank of Shanghai, Limited, acting in pursuance of Section 3 of Article No. 213 of the Ordinance of Commercial Associations, hereby resolve that this Company be and it is hereby dissolved.

A vigorous protest has been filed by this Company direct with the Ministry of Finance.

Vitafer

The All-British Tonic Food

"VITAFER" the most tried and tested of all British TONIC FOODS. Vitafer is specially suitable at this season of the year as a general tonic and pick-me-up, following such a distressing summer as Shanghai has just experienced. The general result of which is that a great number of people are run down in Health, Nervy, Irritable, Physically and Mentally exhausted.

A Tonic food such as Vitafer is the finest Doctor obtainable at this present time.

VITAFER as a source of Protein is strongly recommended in preference to any meat preparation, to those with weak digestive systems a course of this tonic food will build up so that a speedy improvement in appetite, weight, and general well being follows. Simultaneously with this rapid body nutrition glycerophosphates are nourishing and rebuilding the nerve forces overcoming depression and lassitude which are consequent on a run-down neglected condition of health. It will also greatly benefit those who suffer from Neuritis, Anaemia, Dispepsia, Brain Fag and Kindred Complaints.

Suitable alike for children and adults, in 3 oz. sealed bottles. Price $6.00 per dozen, cash with order.

The Automobile Show

THE automobile show that is to open at Verdun Gardens a week from Saturday will be remarkable for one thing that hasn't been touched upon to any great extent by the enthusiastic promoter and press agent who has been monopolising the front page lately, and that is: the spirit that is being manifested by the motor car and accessory men, and those engaged, in allied lines, who are getting ready the elaborate—and expensive—exhibits that Shanghai folk will look upon when the doors of the big exhibition buildings are opened.

It would be idle to deny that business all over the world, in China as in other countries, is still suffering from the reaction of the great war; less, happily, than a year ago, but suffering, nevertheless. Economists all over the world have been telling us for a long time that "the corner" has been turned," and one of the reasons for the universal reluctance to accept that diagnosis as final, is the frequency with which these same economists keep on repeating it, which gives rise to the belief in many quarters that the business prophets are merely whistling to keep their courage up.

In the midst of this pessimism the Shanghai motor car men decided to write their faith in the future in terms of action. They concluded that the best way to improve conditions in their particular field was to go after the Glooms with a big huskay gad. This, they knew, would be a costly and perhaps a risky undertaking at a time when business is pretty well "fed up" on risks, and when the tendency all over the world is to be sit tight yet a while longer.

But they rightly reasoned that the war-demonstrated dangers of inflation are also inherent in ultra conservatism, and that a boom carried too far is less an evil than dry rot. On that theory they decided that the way to begin was to start so they are starting with a motor show that gives every indication of surpassing anything in the way of an industrial exhibition that was ever attempted in this part of the world.

The forthcoming show will be a mighty fine thing, therefore because it is an outward, visible expression of that spirit of business optimism which alone can mark a real starting place toward a return to prosperity.

Too many business men are prone to disseminate that devil's propaganda which in three poisonous words can paralyse the industry of the world, namely "times are bad." Nothing will tend more to keep them bad or make them than for a sufficient number of people to keep on thinking and talking in terms of that asphyxiating trinity.

In putting on their exhibition at Verdun Gardens the Shanghai motor car men are giving expression to a faith in the future. They are thinking of the good dollars ahead, rather than of the bad dollars that lie hopelessly buried in the rucks of a thousand yesterdays, and that is precisely where all of us must look if we ever hope to get this sick old world headed back toward a condition of business health.

Is Mars Inhabited? 1924 May Tell

The secret of Mars may be read in 1924 when the red planet makes its closest approach to earth, although astronomers are skeptical of the theory of Marconi that the Martians are signaling us by wireless and take no stock in the projected sixty-foot whirling dish of quicksilver which it is promised will magnify the power of vision to 25,000,000 times its normal strength.

In 1924 Mars will come within about 35,000,000 miles of the earth. Because of its eccentric orbit, compared to the more nearly circular one of the earth, Mars approaches that close only once in fifteen years.

In 1924 observatories will be much better equipped to study Mars than they were in 1909, when the planet last appeared at its biggest and reddest in our sky. In 1924 Mars will be the cynosure of telescopes all over the earth. The 100-inch Hooker telescope at Mt. Wilson, and the marvelous instruments and methods for analysing light which are in use there, may definitely solve the question whether Mars is inhabited.

As the distance of Mars from the earth varies from 35,000,000 to 284,000,000 miles, the wireless signals from that planet, if there are any, will have a better chance to register in 1924 over the comparatively brief span of 35,000,000 miles.

THOSE "SIGNALS" FROM MARS

For the last twenty years Mars has been reported frequently to be attempting to signal to us by wireless rays, by flashing lights and even, according to some imaginative speculatists, by writing sign messages of planet-wide size over its latitudes by means of the Mars canal system. It has even been suggested that we acknowledge receipt by forming words in vegetation over the blank of the Sahara Desert.

The Marconi wireless communication theory is more plausible than any of the others, because that great inventor reports that he has picked up wireless waves 100 miles long, while the greatest produced on earth by artificial means are about ten miles long. Many ways of explaining this have occurred to skeptics, but the Marconi signals have more in them to interest conservative scientists than any of the previous types.

There was a sensation in 1900 when it was reported that signalling from Mars had been detected at the Lowell Observatory at Flatgstaff, Ariz. This was based on the misunderstanding of a telegraph message concerning some projected lights over the rim of Mars. Instead of presenting a perfect outline, Mars showed slight excrescences of light. These were calculated to be from seventeen to thirty miles above the surface of the planet.

PROJECTIONS FROM MOON

Similar isolated projections of light had been seen on the moon, but this was easily discovered to be the sunlight tipping the mountain tops, an effect visible on earth in mountainous country when the rising sun glids the summits when the lower parts of the mountains and the valleys re still in darkness.

But Mars has no mountains, according to general agreement among observers. It was believed also to be almost cloudless. The occasional high lights, however, are now agreed to have been clouds which are thought to occur, though somewhat rarely. One theory is that the cloud was composed of dust blown up high by a storm on one of the red deserts of Mars, or else by a volcano. But volcanoes are not known on Mars. Great dust storms also are considered unlikely, because though wind may rush to and fro at high speed on Mars, the atmosphere is very rare, probably of about the same density as that on top of Mount Everest.

The late Percival Lowell, one of the greatest students of Mars, was puzzled for a time, when a brilliant flash of light darted from Mars into his telescope—a flash more brilliant than that ever seen from any heavenly body except the sun. But a brief calculation showed him that the flash was not a signal from scientists on Mars but was what he called "one of nature's own signals." He found that the sun was in such a position that, at the instant when he was dazzled, the rays of the sun had struck one of the glistening polar icecaps on Mars and had been reflected as from a mirror into his eyes.

"STRAYS" AS SIGNALS

Electric currents which apparently wander through eternity hit the earth here and there, causing a mysterious hissing and crackling in wireless apparatus and sometimes upsetting human electrical contrivances, as the great magnetic storm of last May did on an unprecedented scale. Such currents, called "strays" or "atmospherics," have been occasionally interpreted as signals from Mars, when they came with a regularity that seemed to be directed by a human intelligence. But they have been shown most unmistakably to be connected with sun spots. The prevailing theory is that these explosive upheavals in the sun shoot myriads of electrical particles into space, occasionally deluging the earth with them.

Another theory is that the magnetic fields in sun spots, recently discovered by Dr. George E. Hale at Mount Wilson, do not shower the earth with electrons, but produce sympathetic magnetic action in the atmosphere of the earth. One of the strongest objections to the theory of Martian signals is the belief that the enormous constant electrical activity of the sun would smother the best efforts of the men of Mars to communicate with us.

The scheme attributed to Dr. David Todd of Amherst, a well-known astronomer, of using a great abandoned mine shaft in Chile for the making of a colossal telescope, has been the subject of no little scientific discussion. This shaft, which is said to have a sixty-foot diameter, is located near the equator. It is, therefore, in the plane on which the earth and all the other planets whirl round the sun. The shaft telescope has the disadvantage that it could never be shifted, and could only be used for that part of the heavens which passes over it. But it is calculated that Mars will pass directly over it when it becomes a big, red disk in 1924.

MANY ASTRONOMERS SCOFF

Many astronomers have scoffed at the theory of such a colossal telescope, alleging that if the mechanical difficulties could be overcome the enormous magnification sought would be useless, because the observer would see nothing but a blur. On a small scale, Dr. Robert Williams Wood of Johns-Hopkins had built a practical concave-mirror telescope on Long Island by rotating a basin of mercury until the liquid metal shaped itself into the proper concavity. There are limits to its use, however, which will be exceeded many times, according to astronomers, if the attempt is made to build the abandoned mine telescope.

The greatest telescopes now in use sometimes achieve a power 3,000 times as great as that of the unaided vision. This is only when the state of the atmosphere is at its best. Ordinarily astronomers have to be content with much less, sometimes with a magnification of 200 or 300.

"The atmosphere fixes an outside limit of magnification," said Dr. Frank Schlesinger, director of the Yale Observatory. "Limitless magnifying powers could not be used. Telescopes will probably be made larger than at present for use on mountain tops and especially favorable locations, but the tendency is to lose in distinctness as magnifying power is increased. Eventually the object gazed on becomes a blur, as if seen through a heat haze. Only through great instruments like that at Mount Wilson, and then only under most favorable conditions, have objects magnified as much as 3,000 times been seen with an unblurred vision.

ATMOSPHERE CAUSE BLURS

"The cause of the blurring is the atmosphere, which always twists and distorts light rays to a greater or less extent. The image of the stars or moon or other objects are not delivered in the original package, as it were, after they have passed through the atmosphere. The degree of distortion varies, but is always present to some extent.

"Other things being equal, the telescope at the greater elevation suffers less from the distortion of the atmosphere.

"But this proposal is to go to the bottom of a shaft and add the atmosphere in the shaft to that already above it. It is not likely that under such circumstances a magnifying power could be achieved to equal many telescopes already in existence. It is probable that mechanical difficulties would prevent the construction of the whirling-mercury telescope at all."

Dr. Schlesinger said that a dry climate was not necessarily the best for a telescope and that local conditions counted for more than general climatic conditions. The blurring effect of the atmosphere was not due to the moisture in the atmosphere or to the wind, but to the presence of layers of atmosphere of different consistency, which refracted it. Each new layer had an effect on a small scale like the refraction or bending of light, which was seen when an object under water was observed at an angle. The ideal steadiness of atmosphere for telescope purposes was achieved when there was a minimum of abrupt changes in the density of air layers.

IF MARS WERE A MILE AWAY

The mine telescope, if it met the sanguine expectations of its projectors, would magnify 25,000,000 times, which would bring Mars optically within a mile and a half of the earth. At first thought this would seem to give the astronomer a sight of Mars equivalent to that which an air pilot obtains of the earth as he flies a mile and a half above it. At that height an airman could see cities, towns and individual buildings, farms, orchards and a thousand marks of the activity of man. Under the same advantages an astronomer would soon know all about Mars, where the creations of intelligent beings are believed to exist on a much grander scale than on earth.

But here a difficulty arises. The airman is unconscious of the rotation of the earth, because gravity pulls the earth and air and the airplane with a uniform motion. On the other hand, if Mars were brought within a mile and a half of the earth it would be whirling so madly that the features of the landscape would be lost to the eye, as are markings on the propellers of an airplane revolving at full speed.

If a magnification of 25,000,000 times or anything like it could be accomplished the observer could only see a small patch of Mars. Mars rotates its 12,000 mile circumference once in a little more than twenty-four hours, so that at its equator it is making a speed of about ten miles a minute, or about five times the speed of a racing car. If the observers were content with seeing Mars fifteen miles off, the portion visible to them would still be streaming past the telescope at the rate of a mile a minute.

LIGHT WOULD BE DILUTED

A camera of instantaneous action might take pictures at this speed on earth, but it could not be used on Mars. A magnification of 25,000,000 times would mean that the light of Mars would be diluted to one twenty-five-millionth part of its brightness in the sky, which would not be adequate for rapid-fire photography or even for ordinary vision.

The theory that the Martians are more advanced than the inhabitants of the earth is guessed from the fact that the Martian canal system, if artificial, surpasses our greatest engineering works as much as the Panama Canal surpasses the ordinary ditch hoed through a cornpatch, and also from the possibility that the Martians have developed over a far longer period than the men of this planet have.

Mars is believed to be older, because it swims in a wide circuit about the orbit of the earth. According to the nebular theory, the space from the sun to the outermost planet and beyond was filled by a whirling fire-mist, which, as it cooled and contracted, ejected rings of denser fire mist, which, in turn, cooled and shaped themselves into the spheres which are the planets. Thus, according to the nebular theory, Mars was the elder brother of the earth. It was probably born many millions of years before the earth was flung into space from the bulging equator of the sun. Further than that, the surface of Mars cooled quicker because it was smaller.

HOW OLD IS THE MARTIAN?

The rocky crust formed on the cooling earth somewhere between 25,000,000 and 2,000,000,000 years ago, according to the various guesses of geologists and physicists, Mars may be twice as old. Man is a newcomer on earth. Traces of his work, which show him to be thinking and using his hands, run back 50,000 years or so. His career as a recognisably human creature is probably less than one-thousandth part of the age of the earth, since the fundamental fire disappeared from its surface. The Martian man, if he developed at about the same stage in that planet's history as man did in earth's history, may have a history hundreds of times as old as the human family has on this planet. The Mars man may be today where the inhabitant of the earth will be at about 10,000,000 A. D. He may have us under closer inspection with his telescopes than we have bugs under microscopes.

Many astronomers doubt the artificiality of the Martian canals. They believe the sponsors for the canals theory—the late Dr. Lowell, for instance—have been under a kind of optical illusion and consider that the atmosphere detected on Mars is too slight to support life.

SATURDAY'S STAMP AUCTION

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: In your report on the important stamp auction of last Saturday, a slight error has crept in.

The sale was arranged for the vendor by Mr. Charles Piens, but the actual auction was carried out by us, having been commissioned by Mr. Piens with it. We would thank you to insert this correction, and are, Dear Sr. Yours faithfully,

On Making Sure

There is nothing like making sure where one's health is concerned. Good health is the best guarantee that Life shall be a success. Now it is well-known that digestive disorders are the cause of more cases of ill-health than any other class of ailment. The digestive system is so extensive, so complex and so hard-worked, that its liability to derangement is not astonishing. Happily, however, many digestive ailments can be easily remedied. Happily, too, many digestions need never go wrong. You can make reasonably sure that your digestion will not fail you, even under trying conditions, if you get into the excellent way of taking Beecham's Pills. This "Wonderful Medicine"—as it has been called—does really work wonders with the digestive system. Beecham's Pills impart tone to the stomach, regulate the action of the liver and kidneys and gently stimulate the bowels into healthy activity. Get into the habit of making sure. Have recourse to Beecham's Pills at the first sign of digestive trouble. Make sure of your health by taking

Beecham's Pills.

An agent for Haig & Haig who trades extensively in the West End of London informs us that not many weeks pass without orders coming from Harley Street doctors for our whisky.

They know what they are doing. Life can be saved (and often is saved) by the timely use of fine stimulant.

When "control" is banished in the Home Market the price of Haig & Haig Whisky will be higher there than other Whiskies. In all uncontrolled markets the higher price is now being paid. That is one of the reasons why Haig & Haig is a scarce commodity in the Home Market.

Mujiks To Rise And Control All Russia Says Their Agent

The Russian peasant, who represents 80 percent of the population, will rise 130,000,000 strong within the next month or two and overthrow every government in Russia—from the mighty Communistic party of Lenin and Trotsky west of Irkutsk, to the struggling little Far Eastern and Merkuloff governments at Chita and Vladivostock—according to statements issued today by agents of Mr. K. J. Slaviansky, representative of the All Russian Farmers' Trade Union, who after a few days stay in Shanghai leaves for Japan tomorrow in furtherance of Russian trade.

Bolshevism, Sovietism, Communism in its every shade of color and every degree of longitude, all will be submerged in the rising of the mass of peasants within the month, according to Mr. Slaviansky's agents. A peasant's government, democratic, free, and independent is planned as the succeeding central power.

Mr. Slaviansky, according to impressions gathered from a very cautious interview, hopes that the peasantry of Russia will win its way to political and governmental supremacy in his homeland by the American one-share plow, drawn by American farm animals.

The Farmers' Union has been in existance since 1905. It is non-political, and, as a commercial organisation for trade, supports only the government in power. It is, however, non-communistic. Mr. Slaviansky reaches Shanghai from Moscow, through Siberia, and Vladivostock. He is not an attache of the Merkuloff government, nor of the Chita party; he represents the peasantry, from coast to coast.

"The Farmers' Trade Union," Mr. Slaviansky says, "is the strongest and the most representative body in Russia. Any government or firm or individual wishing to trade with Russia must trade through us. There are, of course, lesser societies but we represent 80 percent of the population of Russia, and it must be expected that we speak for the country."

One million ploughs and another million horses are the first requirements of the peasantry of Russia, according to Mr. Slaviansky.

"But even this," he says, "cannot supply our needs. We need more ploughs and horses than the whole world can supply. If we could get the farming supplies needed just now Russia could pay all of its debts within the year."

Other items on Mr. Slaviansky's shopping list included one million yards of piece goods.

"And this," he says, "is only one fiftieth of what is required. If every man, not even to mention women, were furnished with one outfit—coat, suit and shirt—50,000,000 yards would be required."

The ploughs, the horses, and the piece goods are the principal objects of Mr. Slaviansky's present trip. He is feeling around the trade centers of the Far East, even while awaiting reports from the Farmers Trade Delegation which already is in America pricing needed commodities, and representing the mujik at the Washington Conference.

According to Mr. Slaviansky, advices from Vladivostok state that certain organisations—presumably of the peasantry—in Moscow have delivered an ultimatum to the Soviet government that in a month's time, ending November 30, they must hand over the government of all of Russia to the all Russia Farmers' Trade Union. The farmers, it is further stated have refused to accept the Soviet government, insisting that the central body must be of the real majority which is the peasantry.

Setting A Sprained Wrist Gently

The old-fashioned idea that sprains of the wrist were almost unworthy of notice from the surgeon, as they would heal easily with hardly any deformity and with complete recovery of function, has been discarded, for there are many so-called sprains of the wrist that leave real disability and much pain.

Drs. Edgar F. Cyriax and Stanley Melville of London contribute to the New York Medical Journal an article on this subject in which they point out that almost every sprain of wrist or ankle involves the actual displacement of some of the little bones that form the joint and overstretching of the ligaments that bind them together. The muscular contraction that fixes them persists, effusion and adhesions easily result, and thus the displaced bones are not able to regain their correct position.

The commonest kind of sprain is the displacement of the scaphoid and semilunar bones on the radius. They are nearly always displaced together, either inwardly or by being tilted.

It is not always easy to detect which of the bones are displaced, but surgeons have many tests among which the X-rays are the most important.

Once the surgeon is certain, he goes to work to put the bones back into place. Traction is applied to the limb and the surgeon makes "small sudden movements," trying to persuade rather than to force the bones. Especially in cases of long standing, it is often better not to try to do it all at once sitting, but to do it bit by bit, taking several days. It can often be done without any pain, and the more gently it is done the less danger is there of causing inflammation through the too rapid breaking down of adhesions.

TEXACO

Texaco Steam Cylinder Lubricants
plus Texaco Service

Many engineers have found that their steam cylinder lubrication problems can be made less difficult by using Texaco Steam Cylinder Lubricants plus Texaco Service.

Texaco Steam Cylinder Lubricants are a highly specialized group of oils of the high Quality Standard associated the World over with Petroleum Products bearing the Texaco Trademark.

There is one oil in this group that will exactly meet the requirements of your engine, and Texaco Service will help you find out which oil this is. Tell us about the type of your engine, temperature, quality of steam, kind of service, point of introduction, etc. We shall gladly prescribe the Right Texaco Lubricant for your needs.

The Right Oil in the Right Place—that is the key to satisfactory steam cylinder lubrication. We have the oils and can show you how to use them.

Wharfage and Landing Charges

Owing to the increased cost of working and maintenance the undermentioned Wharves find it necessary to raise the charges for WHARFAGE, LANDING and DELIVERY, and after careful consideration beg to announce that on and after January 1st, 1922, there will be an increase of 10 per cent. on the present R. S. & D. tariff, dated January 1st, 1920.

STORAGE RATES

Revised STORAGE TARIFFS have been drawn up and are in course of distribution, the new rates applying to all goods not on Landing Accounts or Godown Warrants on January 1st, 1922. Copies will be supplied to all Firms communicating with the various Wharves.

Takahashi Will Continue Policies Started By Hara

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 14.—Viscount Takahashi in the course of a statement to Reuter's correspondent this afternoon, outlining his views, said that the change in the Premiership would not change the foreign policies of the Japanese Government, which were fixed. The Premier would follow in the footsteps of the late Mr. Hara and hoped to find co-operation abroad as well as at home. He entirely sympathised with the purposes of the Conference at Washington, where the hopes of the entire world were at present centered.

Viscount Takahashi said: "Three years after the Great War, the world is still in a state of unrest. No one is able to forecast the future.

"The President of the United States has taken the initiative in proposing the assemblage of an international conference respecting the reduction of armaments as well as Pacific and Far Eastern questions. The Japanese Government has accepted the proposal with pleasure.

"Unfortunately, within a week of the assembling of the Conference the late Premier Hara was assassinated, without fully translating into reality the great political plans he had in view. It was entirely beyond my expectations that I would be called by my sovereign to fill the post.

"The proposal of President Harding is well understood to be prompted by the desire for a definite establishment of world peace and the promotion of the common weal of humanity—a policy which entirely harmonises with the course thus far pursued by Japan in conjunction with the other Powers.

"As a member of the Hara Ministry, I had the pleasure of taking part in the framing of its policies. Particularly I have always supported its foreign policy. It need hardly be said, therefore, that the line of action adopted for the guidance of our delegates at Washington will in no way be modified through the change of Premiers.

"While fully convinced that the Washington Conference will be crowned with the greatest success by virtue of the personality of the President and the noble ideals of the United States, and the other Powers represented at the Conference, I am prepared to exert my utmost endeavors with a view to affording whatever contribution lies within my power towards its success."

PRESS COMMENT
(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 14.—With regard to the formation of the Takahashi Cabinet, newspapers, in the course of their editorials, express their sense of welcome that no bureaucratic government has been able to make its appearance at this time when the foundation of party politics in Japan is not so firmly established.

The Tokio Asahi writes:

"It goes without saying that the new Premier, Viscount Takahashi, is a pacifist, considering that he once strongly advocated the abrogation of the General Staff office, but from the viewpoint of salvation of the nation, it must be borne in mind that the questions regarding thought, education, finance, national life and purification of national administration are the most important that need immediate solution. We want to see what policy the new Premier is going to take in connection with the questions above mentioned."

The Jiji Shimpo states:

"While the influence of political parties is gaining more and more strength, the movement of the politicians, who are not depending on any party politics, is losing its effect and this is a matter for congratulation on the part of the people at large."

The Tokio Nichi Nichi says:

"Inasmuch as the Takahashi Cabinet is an extension of the Hara Ministry, the slackening of national administration and the necessity of changing the Cabinet will naturally remain in existence."

The Kokumin argues that the new Ministry should test popular confidence by carrying into effect again the general election.

The Hochi declares that the people, who have long wanted to get the Hara Cabinet changed are still anxious for the change of the Takahashi Government on the same ground as before.

FOUNDER'S DAY IS CELEBRATED

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, Kiangsu, Nov. 14.—Dr. C. C. Chen, vice-president of Shanghai College and Miss Mary Woolley were the speakers at the annual Founders Day exercises of Ginling College this morning.

An appreciative audience of students and friends of the college listened to Dr. Chen's address on "Is there a Conflict between Religion and Science?" Dr. Chen, whose address was in Chinese, held the attention of his hearers as he ably advocated a position of tolerance in the attitude towards both these subjects and showed how they supplemented each other.

After an anthem by the College Glee Club, Miss. Woolley spoke on China, and the Opportunity for Educated Women". In her speech Miss Woolley traced the development of women's education in the United States, from the days of beginnings, through the period of expansion and into the present era, the years since the Great War, when women were more fully realising their opportunity in all walks of life and were preparing themselves through higher education for the responsibilities of citizenship throughout all the world. She called upon the Ginling students to respond to the world challenge along with their sisters of other countries.

Three announcements were made by President Thurston, one of them being that the Freshman Scholarship had been won by Miss Li Chi, another was that Miss Minnie Vautrin, who during Mrs. Thurston's absence in the States, had been acting-president, had been elected to the position of dean of the college by the board of control which has just concluded its annual meeting. The third statement was to the effect that the foundations of four of the new buildings on the new campus were now being laid and it was hoped that the Founders' Day exercises in 1923 would be held in the new buildings.

This evening the banquet will be served at the college, when the subject of the new buildings and the wider sphere that they will give to the College will be dealt with from various angles by those who are to respond to the toasts.
